

WHAT THE ENGLISH PAPERS SAY ABOUT CECIL RHODES' WILL.

English Speaking People Will Be Brought Closer Together—Estate Valued at About Five Million Pounds.

LONDON, April 5.—The war in South Africa, politics and every topic usually of interest were forgotten today in the absorbing discussion of Cecil Rhodes' will.

VALUE OF ESTATE.

Regarding that extraordinary document, the Associated Press has ascertained some new facts. The total of Mr. Rhodes' fortune is likely to prove to be $5,000,000 pounds, or slightly under that amount. The executors are Lord Rosebery, Earl Grey, Lord Milner, Alfred Beit, Dr. Johnson, L. L. M. and B. A. H. Watson, to whom is bequeathed the residue of his estate. They will divide about $1,000,000 pounds or £500,000 pounds among them.

According to the terms of this legacy, the amount to be given to divided during their life time, but when each legatee dies his share goes to a committee until the surviving legatee becomes his sole owner.

EXECUTORS WEALTHY.

None of the executors, the majority of whom are already enormously wealthy, will one day inherit what will have probably accumulated into nearly $1,000,000 pounds. The executors, the Associated Press reports, have unusually full careers in law and usually the will as soon as it is executed, the omission of British Columbia, Nova Scotia and other provinces from the list of scholarships is quite likely to be corrected and each province of Canada may be put on the same footing as the American States.

One of Mr. Rhodes' most intimate associates said to a representative of the Associated Press:

"He drew up his will in the same spirit in which he approached all great undertakings. In his most important tasks he merely sketched out the outline and left it to fill in the details. His trustees are given plenary powers in the matter of the scholarships. Mr. Rhodes saw the scheme was so vast that any attempt to rule rigidly lay down the lines might result in harm, so, beyond his endeavoring to meet the legal requirements, he tried to leave the fulfillment of his plans to those with whom, during his lifetime, he frequently discussed them."

AMERICAN BEQUESTS.

Regarding the American bequests, the Associated Press reported:

"The only hope that these noble aspirations may be realized in their entirety, England has done her part and there only remains the hope that future English students may be given the knowledge of England, now so lacking."

The St. James Gazette, referring to the intimations that the best young American will be given to the world, said:

"We heartily hope for an era in which no other desire than that Oxford should equip them to be profitable servants of the motherland. We welcome them."

The Westerner, of San Francisco, believes the inclusion of Americans, Germans and Colonials ought to bring new life and new ideas to Oxford, adding:

"We hope the University will welcome our sons with open arms."

Whether it will have a modifying effect in the upper and promote the good relations with America and Germany, which Mr. Rhodes desired, will depend entirely on the spirit in which the university rises to the occasion, and its ability to meet the wants of these students."

The Pall Mall Gazette, referring to the American bequests as the greatest feature of the will, wrote:

"A more remarkable provision for bequeathing the two great English speaking powers of the world into closer touch has never been drawn up. The great American nation cannot fail to be deeply touched by this kind bid for its friendship made by the dead."

WHAT PRES. WHEELER THINKS OF RHODES' WILL

Says That American Students Will Get Benefit.

BERKELEY, April 5.—The will of Cecil Rhodes, the late South African mining magnate, has created a profound impression at the University. President Wheeler, in speaking of the matter, stated that the effects of the document would be far-reaching and would do more to cement the English speaking peoples in a lasting unity of peace and friendship than any event which has occurred in the last ten years.

PRESIDENT WHEELER'S VIEWS.

In an interview with a TRIBUNE reporter President Wheeler said:

"The will of Cecil Rhodes represents one of the most significant benefactions ever made to the human race. It represents Cecil Rhodes through and through. He believed it was the mission of the English speaking civilization to bring the world into co-operation and peace. He believed in the higher education, as a basis on which mankind was to be fitted for its great work."

"He believed in men of bright wits and intellectual talents, but his practical experience in the great outside world taught him that moral force, character and health counted quite as much as those things which are tested by the ordinary experience of schools."

MUCH CAREFUL THINKING.

"I think it will be possible to work out a system of administration of the great benefaction, but it will require much careful thinking and planning."

"Cecil as it is today is not very well suited to be the University home of this great force of Anglo-American youngsters, the brightest and most forceful product of the English world and all human civilization. It is unlikely for many reasons.

"It has the singular limitations which characterize the English upper classes. It is indeed more English than British or Anglo-American."

"Cecil Rhodes' provisions will do more to modify Oxford than anything else we have done. Forthwith it must become more cosmopolitan and universal in its tone and type, otherwise three hundred bright Anglo-Americans will be like new wines in old bottles, and Oxford will burst."

"Cecil Rhodes always believed in a world civilization based upon the English language and English liberty. He has done more to define and establish that world-civilization through this provision than was ever done through any single act before."

"He has done great things thereby for America. Two young men from every nation and territory can easily be using the advantages of education and experience provided with an equal opportunity to open to them every door of opportunity and advantage. He has done, however, quite as much for the English and world, for the effect of all this will be mighty to broaden Oxford and England, too."

"The English public consciousness and its political ideals have been for the first time made available at Oxford. Oxford men have made the English colonial service, the English courts and parliamentary opinion."

AT OXFORD.

"At Oxford the typical Englishman of the governing and opinion-making class is now to come in contact with great numbers of English-speaking people with habits and opinions brought in from the English-speaking world, representing commercial, social, religious, commercial institutions, and views of life."

"Cecil Rhodes' benefaction leads toward not an English empire, or a British empire, but a civilized unity under the guidance of the English language and the English tongue."

WILL ASK PRINCE TO COME TO AMERICA.

Chamber of Commerce
Will Request Wales to Be Their Guest.

NEW YORK, April 5.—There is the highest authority for the statement that the Chamber of Commerce of New York will invite the Prince of Wales, in August or September, to attend the dedication of its new home in a semi-official character. Negotiations have been under way for the last two months, but nothing definite will be known until May or June.

As a matter of fact, no formal invitation has yet been sent to the Prince

TWO MEN ARE KILLED IN ACCIDENTS.

Conrad Rupple and J. J. McCaffery Lose Their Lives Across the Bay.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—Two men lost their lives early this morning in railway accidents, the one being run down while driving his covered wagon on the track ahead of an electric car, and the other essaying to board a moving engine, only to fall beneath the wheels and be fatally crushed.

Conrad Rupple, a garden truckster and chicken dealer at 5118 Mission street, started for the markets early this morning in his covered wagon, carrying provender and fowl for the trade. He had gone but a short way, when a car dashed into his rig from the rear, throwing him out and causing the horse to run away. Dr. Torrello, who lives near by, was summoned, but when he arrived pronounced the man dead. Meanwhile the car had gone but a short way, and the police are now seeking to learn its number and the identity of the driver.

J. J. McCaffery, a switchman, residing at 160 Golden Gate avenue, and employed by the belt railroad which runs along the water front for the handling of rock from the quarry, set a switch at Filbert and East streets early this morning and then tried to board the engine as it passed him. He fell beneath the wheels and both feet were cut off. He died soon after the accident.

RAVE ACT OF A YOUNG GIRL.

She Frightens a Burglar and Secures Her Treasure Box.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—Frightening away burglars is not supposed to be among the accomplishments of young women, but Miss Samuel, the second daughter of W. A. Samuel, yesterday proved that she was equal to the task.

The family were away from the Samuels' home at 128 Scott street, during the forenoon, and the same afternoon between 3 and 4 o'clock gained entrance through a rear door and made his way up stairs. In ransacking a trunk he found a box belonging to Mr. Samuel and containing $2000 worth of jewelry.

The fellow started to leave the house with his booty and was in one of the rear rooms with the box in his hand when the ladies of the family came in the front door. The second daughter, hearing a noise in the house, started on a run for the room. Nor did she faint when she saw the burglar. To the surprise of all, she sprang at the intruder and, the young woman uttered a cry. She was close to him when he reached the rear porch and he evidently thought she had the best of the game for her, but the rest of the girls, following, were scattered over the floor. These young ladies calmly gathered up as the other members of the family came to see what the noise meant.

FAIRBANKS MAKES A STRONG PLEA FOR CHINESE EXCLUSION.

Says Uncle Sam Has the Absolute Right to Put Up the Bars—No Ill Will is Meant Toward the Chinese Empire.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The Senate passed the Indian Appropriation bill and took up the bill for the Exclusion of Chinese. Mr. Fairbanks of Indiana, spoke in favor of the bill.

RIGHTS TO ENACT LAW.

Mr. Fairbanks maintained that the United States had an absolute right to enact Exclusion legislation, applicable to the Chinese, without in any way affecting our treaty obligations with China.

The pending bill, he said, was in accordance with a well settled policy of this government, and was a result of experience gained from the operation of existing laws.

HAS NO ILL WILL.

He asserted that no ill will toward the Chinese empire prompted the proposed legislation.

It was expressive of a purpose simply to maintain high order and standard citizenship and to protect American labor from the competition of a low class of laborers who in our body politic would become an indigestible mass.

The admission of such people to our country would be a flagrant violation of the principle of protection.

HOOKE FAVORS.

Mr. Hooker of Mississippi favored the re-enactment of the present laws. He thought our treaties with China should be scrupulously observed.

OTHER MATTERS.

Mr. Fisher of Washington urged an amendment which would prohibit the mineral lands only in the Spokane Indian Reservation in the State of Washington shall be subject to entry under the laws of the United States in violation of the treaty of 1855.

Mr. Quinn offered an amendment providing that the Secretary of the Interior might use $3000 of the appropriation for contingencies of the Indian service or for the purpose of introducing the willow industry among the Indians. It was adopted.

After the adoption of some minor amendments the bill was passed.

CHINESE BILL AGAIN.

Consideration of the Chinese Exclusion bill was then resumed and Mr. Fairbanks of Indiana addressed the Senate in support of the measure.

When Mr. Fairbanks had concluded his speech Mr. Quinn rose and indicated death in his mind as to the propriety of the enactment of some provisions of the proposed law, lest they might be construed as a violation of our treaty obligations with China.

Mr. Quinn declared that he never would vote for the measure if he should be convinced that it was in violation of solemn treaty obligations.

COUNTERFEITER BAIR IS GIVEN SEVEN YEARS.

Did Not Expect to Get More Than Five For Pleading Guilty.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—Ulysses G. Bair was sentenced in the United States District Court this morning to seven years in San Quentin.

He had pleaded guilty to three counts, namely, making counterfeit money, having counterfeit money in his possession and passing counterfeit money, and expected to get a sentence of about five years.

He was much disappointed when he was given seven. The credits he will receive under the Goodwin Act will bring his sentence down to 4 years and nine months.

HOPE TO GET THE BIG FIGHT.

Southern Club Will Likely Give Fritz All He Demands.

CHARLESTON, S. C., April 5.—J. C. Jaudin, representing the International Athletic Club, which has bid for the Fritz-Judkins Jaffrey fight, returned today from New York. Concerning Jaffrey's demand that the fight be increased from $5,000 to $10,000, and to cover the assurance of pulling off the contest, Jaudin said he would at once consult his attorney and secure from the State authorities a statement of their attitude toward the proposed fight. It is assured there would be no interference, he will meet the demands of the champion and arrange to close the engagement for Charleston. Jaudin has no doubt the fight can be pulled off.

PETERMANN SALT LANDS LEASED.

Federal Salt Company Gets Control of Mount Eden Beds.

CARRIED VICTOR ON SHOULDERS.

Trap Shooting Contest Ends in Kansas City Today.

Mrs. Mary Petermann of Mt. Eden, from whom the court recently removed the ban of incompetency in the matter of the management of her business affairs, placed on record this morning a lease of all the salt lands which she owns in Alameda county, with the exception of those which are leased to R. Mills, A. S. Jones and A. H. Field.

The lands are located in the vicinity of Mt. Eden. The lessees are the Federal Salt Company. The lease is to run for five years and the rental is $1,500 a year, payable quarterly in advance. In the event of default in the payment of the installments, the lease is to become null and void in the event that the lessees fail to pay the amount due, thirty days after the time of payment.

On the expiration of the lease, the company will receive $1,500. In consideration of this sum, Mrs. Petermann releases the lessees from any other claim she may have upon them, as also from any claim which may arise out of the suit in the Superior Court brought by Henry L. Petermann, a son of the lessor, against Mrs. Petermann, P. J. Crosby, E. J. Ryker, J. Wadsworth and R. Mills, in which the petitioner sought guardian ship over his mother.

Other features of the lease are that Mrs. Petermann authorizes the Salt Company in question to pay the interest on the mortgage on the property given by the lessor to F. C. Siebe, also to pay in cancellation of the mortgage $500 a year during the life of the lease.

WILL BRING DOCTOR BACK FOR CONTEMPT

Edith M. Byron, the divorced wife of Dr. Albert E. Byron, has grown tired of her ex-husband's disregard of herself and his studied contempt for the order of the Superior Court, which obliged him to pay her permanent alimony in the sum of $50 a month.

As proof of this, Mrs. Byron has had the court order her ex-husband brought back to Lemore, in Klugs county, to show why he should not be adjudged guilty of contempt of court for his dereliction.

Mrs. Byron secured a divorce from the doctor on April 29, 1899. Soon after that, Byron paid his ex-wife $125, and that sum, the latter says, is all he has since given her. Three years have elapsed since the decree of divorce was granted, but the copy of the decree was not served upon Byron until May 15 of 1900. During the time paid to the ex-wife, from the amount in default, Byron now owes his ex-wife $1,000, which she demands like a thousand dollars.

An attorney has gone to Lemore to serve Byron with a citation.

When the doctor was practicing in this city, his only wife was at 58 Seventeenth street. His divorced wife has since resided at 125 Franklin street, and other places.

TIME IS EXTENDED FOR VACCINATION

BERKELEY, April 5.—President Wheeler stated this morning that there was a mistake in the published reports relative to the time the students would be excluded from the University for having failed to file certificates of vaccination with the University Recorder. The published articles state that President Wheeler modified his original proclamation, but in reality he increased the time that students would be compelled to remain away by one week.

The period of incubation is three weeks for smallpox, and it was President Wheeler's intention to not allow unvaccinated students to attend college for that time. It was never his intention to exclude the students permanently. This impression was carried, however, by several published accounts.

THIRTY YEARS IN THE PENITENTIARY

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—Suit was brought today by Joseph Sears to quiet title to property which was mortgaged by J. J. Pennington from James C. Dunham, the sextuplet murderer, whose whereabouts are still unknown. Jacob Shesler, one of the defendants, whose daughter was one of Dunham's victims at the slaughter at the McGilley homestead in May, 1895, obtained judgment against Dunham, but the Supreme Court overruled it on the ground that personal service on Dunham had not been made. Sears bought the property from Pennington and now wants settlement of title.

CONTINUE LOW RATES

SHIP DRIFTS IN THE JAVA SEA

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—As a climax to a series of misfortunes the American ship Iroquois is drifting helplessly in the Java Sea, breaking and in danger of foundering.

The cable brought meager information of the Iroquois' trouble this morning. She left New York November 22, bound for Tsingtau, and March 20 was blown ashore in Sapis Strait. Her keel was ripped by the sunken rocks upon which she grounded. She floated off yesterday and dropped an anchor but the wind and tide caught her and whisked her out into the Java Sea. Nothing has been heard from the helpless vessel since.

The Iroquois is owned by the Seawalls. She is commanded by Captain Thompson, a 25-year-old young man who has many friends here. The ship was built at Bath, Me., in 1882. She registers 2120 tons gross, is 237 long and 43 feet beam.

ANOTHER WITNESS FOR JENNIE HEATON

It developed today that Mrs. Dubois of San Leandro is quite an important witness in the contest which Miss Jennie Heaton is making to be declared the natural daughter of the late Warren D. Heaton. In giving her deposition yesterday Mrs. Dubois said that she knew the Heatons years ago in Placer and El Dorado counties, and that Warren D. Heaton introduced Jennie to witness and others at a reunion of former residents of Placer county, held in Badger's Park, as his daughter. In presenting her Heaton said, "This is my daughter, Jennie, see how large she has grown."

In giving her deposition yesterday Mrs. Dubois said that she knew the Heatons years ago in Placer and El Dorado counties, and that Warren D. Heaton introduced Jennie to witness and others at a reunion of former residents of Placer county, held in Badger's Park, as his daughter. In presenting her Heaton said, "This is my daughter, Jenn

VARRO FAILED.

JACKSON RIDES A WRETCHED RACE AND LOSES WITH THE BEST HORSE.

Through the most inexplicable piece of horsemanship ever seen on the race tracks at the hands of a rider having any pretensions to class six favorites failed to win at Encerville yesterday. The only favorite to lose, Varro, was the only odds on choice of the afternoon, and on paper looked to be the surest winner on the card, but he was abominably handled by Jackson and finished second to a horse who was about one second slower at the weights. Every horseman on the ground, winners and losers alike, had something to say in condemnation of Jackson's ride, and when it became known that the boy actually had money of his own on Varro, his saddle work seemed all the more inexplicable.

Like a hoop around a barrel the first four favorites ran around the big fields in the first four races and won at the end with ease and comfort. Both El Polar and Expedient looked hopelessly beaten during some stage of the first and second races, but with the good luck now attending favorites or because the two were pounds and pounds the best the seeming obstacles before them were worn away and both won. To make the finish easier for Expedient, Rasp, who was only beaten a neck, swerved from exhaustion near the wire. Divina, the third favorite to win, though not the best horse in the race, had the key to win. She was badly ridden by Jockey Senn and appeared at one time to be in a hopeless position, but one of the horses in front obligingly pulled out and let Divina through on the rail and with one bound she headed the field. Her burst of speed in the last sixteenth was amazing.

Princess Titania was the fourth favorite to succeed. She was plumb on near post time and was successful through a combination of fatigues and riding. The Pride, which finished second, was away from the barrier fast and applied his full talents. The colt had run fully a quarter of a mile before the jockey could make the horse realize what was wanted of him and set him in his stride. When he began to race he mowed the field down, losing to the Princess by less than the length of her body. Ransch got into seven pockets by actual count with Hagerdon.

FORTUNATE BETTORS.

After Varro proved himself to be fully one second better than his field and then finished second to the heavily favored second choice, Garvane, on whom there was a mysterious plume near post time, the confident players on the ground lined up before the bookmakers prepared to bet on the last race. They made no mistakes, as the horses finished one, two, three, exactly in the order of the betting, and everybody got in line to cash.

Sad of Tarsus, with Jackson up, was the first choice. Mabiba, with a stable boy named Sheehan in the saddle, was second choice, and King Delfs, Trotter for steersman, was next in demand and here they came past the judges made to order. It was a great day for the talent.

CHARLIE BOOTS apologized to Jackson yesterday for the remarks he made concerning his riding of McVyle a few days ago. He also apologized to Green B. Morris and the stewards, and the incident was closed.

Jimmy Coffey, the well known trainer and owner, who lives in Encerville quietly slipped away a few days ago and took into himself a bribe. He kept the affair a complete secret.

Geo. Lyon, a promising young jockey in the employ of W. M. Hodges, fell from a bicycle yesterday and fractured his arm. Goodey has been allowed to ride in races lately and performed creditably.

ELKS CAN SHOOT.

PROPERTY OF THE LINCOLN CLUB PURCHASED BY THE ANTLERS' GUN CLUB.

The Antler Gun Club has come to toot permanently, and no club in Oakland has a more enthusiastic lot of members. Enthusiasm is a characteristic with Elks; it is a part of the institution that sticks to every good member of the order, and every member of the Antler Club is an Elk. This week the Antler Club sold the Lincoln Club's grounds at the old narrow-gauge ferry landing, where they will hold their annual blue rock shoot.

Only bills belonging to the local lodges No. 151 are members of the Antlers Club, but Elks from any lodge are eligible. The grounds now owned by the club will be used exclusively for the club members, but each member is privileged to invite friends to shoot at the club's traps.

Tomorrow the first shoot since the club took possession of its new grounds will be held, and the first handicap shoot for a trophy will be the attraction. A handsome silver cup will be awarded to the winner of the handicap, several other valuable trophies are to be given to future handicap and every member is sure to be on his mettle to score one or more of them. A report reached the club last night and spread rapidly that Elly Mathews had imported two new sets of "horns" in preparation for tomorrow's handicap. Jack Mathews enjoys daily practice around the Piedmont hills, and Senator Frank Leavitt has been taking lessons from Handicapper Brooks out at the race track. Doc Travers has not yet been heard from, but it is known that he is in good condition. The handicapper tomorrow should be "the best ever."

WELCH AT WORK.

THE PIE MAKER REVELS IN OUT-DOOR EXERCISE AND PUTTING ON WEIGHT.

Levers of a real, red hot boxing contest will have their fondest hopes realized Tuesday evening at the Reliance Athletic Club, when Spider Welch and King McPaden line up for the feather-weight championship of the Pacific Coast. There's always something doing when McPaden is in the ring and in Welch he has an opponent who will keep him going all the time.

A representative of THE TRIBUNE visited the training camp at McPaden's road house yesterday and found Spider Joe Welch feeling as confident of winning as McPaden does though he was going up against some easy mark. This is the Spud's first experience at real training and he likes it very much. The outdoor life agrees with him and he shows it plainly. Less than six months ago Welch could make 115 pounds at the ring-side, but he is filling out rapidly and after his road work yesterday weighed 120 pounds.

Welch has been in the boxing game 18 months and has made a brilliant record of his first fourteen fights. He scored knockouts in his first four rounds of each fight, set the decision in the 10th on account of a broken collar bone. He lost a questionable decision to Tommy Giffen in the Reliance Club after one of the fiercest encounters ever seen in this city. His last contest was with McPaden.

Charlie Boots apologized to Jackson yesterday for the remarks he made concerning his riding of McVyle a few days ago. He also apologized to Green B. Morris and the stewards, and the incident was closed.

Jimmy Coffey, the well known trainer and owner, who lives in Encerville

Fadden, when he surprised the red top as well as every one present by beating the 100 yards in 10 seconds, sending him to a stand still in a clinches.

Welch is now in a far better condition than when he met McPaden before, and promises to make it exceedingly interesting for the little match-making who has had everything his own way on this coast until he ran into the Spider's left and right jabs.

McPaden is at San Rafael training at the present time, and is in fine condition. He is reported as being in fine condition and his friends say he will enter the ring in better condition than he has been in for many months.

GOLF TODAY.

SECOND HOME-AND-HOME CONTEST BETWEEN OAKLAND AND SAN FRANCISCO.

The first half of the second home-and-home match between Class A teams representing the San Francisco and Oakland Golf Clubs is on at the Adams Point Links and will be completed this afternoon. The disagreement between the two clubs over the use of Club B, and will not in any way conflict with the friendly rivalry among the Class A men, which has continued in a sociable way, several years.

The discussion between the captains of the Class B teams arises from the fact that the conditions were not clearly defined at first. The teams of Class A men who compete this afternoon were selected by Captain Ernest Pearce for Oakland and Captain S. L. Johnson for San Francisco, as follows:

San Francisco—John Lawson, H. C. Goleher, S. L. Abbott, Jr., Warren Gregory, Dr. T. G. Conkey, H. M. Hoy, G. B. Cooksey, and O. K. Keeler.

Oakland—F. R. Folger, W. P. Johnson, E. S. Stratton, H. M. Fitzgerald, J. A. Folger, C. Hubbard, J. P. Ames and Arthur Goodall.

PLAY BALL

SACRAMENTO AND SAN FRANCISCO WILL OPEN THE SEASON HERE TOMORROW.

Play ball.

That old familiar command from the man behind the pitcher, who carries the new balls about his waist, tells you whether you are right or wrong when the ball reaches the catcher, calls you out or safe at the bases, and last, but not least, charges you with five or ten or whatever the offence calls will float across the home plate to the stand and the crowd Sunday morning, and the first game of a season that promises more for successful baseball than any season we have ever had here will be on. Sacramento will put her strongest team in the field against San Francisco and a rattling good game should mark the opening.

Every preparation has been made at the grounds, and nothing is left to complete when the umpire and players take the field. Men have been at work for days past, and improvements mark nearly every spot on the old place. The grand stand has been enlarged and in making more room in the stand the left field was made larger. Nothing now remains but the toss of the first ball to the pitcher and a good crowd to show the management that its in-bounds in favor of good baseball in Oakland have not been in vain.

This is where will be a game every Sunday morning at 10:30 and Wednesday afternoons at 3:30 through the season.

All the players are in grand shape and will line up as follows and in batting order:

San Francisco—San Francisco, Sheehan, .3 b.; Leahy, .1 b.; Unglach, .2 b.; Nordyke, .1 b.; Eagan, .8 s.; Ben, .2 b.; Rehbein, .4 c.; Shugart, .3 b.; Birmingham, .1 b.; Holly, .8 s.; Frary, .1 b.; McHale, .1 b.; Wagner, .1 b.; Lawlor, .1 c.; Graham, .1 c.; Dugan, .1 c.; Dugan, .1 p.; Dugan, .1 p.; Kline, .1 p.; Hickey, .1 p.; Whalen, .1 p.

INTERESTING LETTER FROM LOHMAN ABOUT THE BOYS NOW IN LOS ANGELES.

At Los Angeles, this afternoon, Pete Lohman's aggregation of baseball talent will parade the streets in carriages headed by music and fireworks, and later play ball before the Mayor and city officials. It is hardly expected that they will be a game.

The cause of the ill feeling between the two men is said to date back to a year ago, when the complaining witness further had Vogt arrested for battery. Since then considerable ill feeling is alleged to have existed between the neighbors, culminating yesterday in Vogt taking a shot at O'Neill on account of the complaining witness' dog chasing one of Vogt's chickens.

HOUSEWIVES DUPED BY CLEVER WOMAN

CONFIDENCE OPERATOR USES OLD METHOD OF SWINDLING AT BERKELEY.

BERKELEY, April 5.—An old confidence game has been revived in Berkeley recently and has been successfully operated by an unknown woman, for whom the police are searching.

The woman's method was to go to a house and represent that she was sent there by a San Francisco employment agency. After being told that her services were not required, she would engage the susceptible housewife in conversation and patetically tell how after paying the fee of the employment agent, she had only enough money to pay her way to Berkeley. She generally succeeded in securing a small loan. A number of housewives have been duped in this manner, but the woman has evidently learned that the police were after her, as she has not made her appearance for several days.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

Oliver George Martin, Berkeley, .24; Agatha Josephine Lopez, Berkeley, .24; Galen Lewis Brown, Alameda, .21; Goldie Clackie Nash, Alameda, .15; Manuel Tavares de Rigo, Hayward, .28; Rosa Muniz, Alvarado, .17; Alberto Tozo, Marysville, .28; Paulina Cangeli, Oakland, .22; Percy James Ashcroft, S. F., .24; Jennie Sterrett, S. F., .22; Arthur S. N. Haze, Alameda, .22; Lucy Raymond Weeks, Alameda, .22; August Greth, S. F., .22; Hettinga Parry, S. F., .20; Jesse David Stated, Kent, Shasta county, .24; Maude Viola Wilson, Kent, Shasta county, .18.

HIS LEG BROKEN.

A. Lawrence, who lives at 224 Harlan street, was seriously injured in an accident recently. His leg was crushed beneath a heavy piece of falling iron and was badly broken.

Why not get a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui from your druggist today?

RELIEVES ALL "FEMALE ILLS".

Rube Waddell after such hospitality, but the local fans earnestly hope and pray that Lohman and his players will knock the smiters out of the Los Angeles team the first game and last game of the series.

The writer is in receipt of an interesting letter from Lohman, written just before the team left Fresno. Its contents is of interest to every reader of the local team, and I gladly publish it for all to enjoy. Following is Lohman's letter:

"The boys leave this evening for the battle field. They are all in good form and have left their kobs in Fresno. Of course, Oakland had to have the misfortune of having to send Mockingman home, blood poisoning being the cause.

"Dunleavy, going after a sky scraper during practice, had the misfortune of stumbling and getting a hard fall. He had to send for a doctor. After the doctor had strapped his back together, he shook his head and said: 'Young man, you will not be able to play Saturday.' Dunleavy thinks that he will. In fact, he is determined that he will. In fact, he is determined that he will. Dunleavy is in great shape and hitting the ball hard and often, and I should have to see him out of the open air.

"Stubb adds that he never was in better shape than he is at present. Two years ago Stubbs weighed 166, and now he weighs 175. Walter is a new face to this League, coming direct from Providence in the Eastern League. He is a left-handed batter and fast on his feet and will head the batting order with Mohler, Streib, McDonald, Devoreaux, Dunleavy, Frank, Gorton and the pitchers.

"McCordie, also a left-handed batter, is in the best of shape, and a timely batter, good base runner and will be a great improvement over last year's right fielder, when Streib was not playing that position.

"Cristall, the South paw, is full of confidence, curves and speed, and very fast holding his position, also a hard hitter.

"Schmidt had but little trouble getting in shape, and looks the picture of health and is elected to pitch the opening game with Cristall, Sunday, and Hodson, Thursday.

"Hodson is sure to pitch gilt edge when he jumps in the box. He is in fine form and his control is wonderful, putting twenty curve balls over the plate without a single miss.

"Devereaux is doing the catching and amping.

"Gorton, the new catcher, is showing plenty of form with a good arm, and is Hank Spies' equal on foul flys.

"With Franks, Devoreaux, Mohler and Streib in the infield, they look so good that I am afraid to express myself, for fear some one will tell me to wake up.

"Jansen has been farmed to Fresno; needs more experience. Brest, the Oakland boy, could not get in shape.

"With myself on the hub, we should be in the race."

YOUNG MEN

ELECT OFFICERS FOR THE YEAR.

Republican League is Getting Ready For the Campaign.

The Young Men's Republican League made a meeting in Judge Stetson's court room last night for the purpose of electing new officers.

President Woother called the meeting to order and named J. W. Stetson, N. W. Denton and R. B. Ayer as the nominating committee to select officers for the coming term.

"I move they be given three minutes to report," came a voice.

"I will order that they report now," said Chairman Woother, amid a general laugh.

A discussion between the committee and several would-be slate-makers took place in an adjoining room.

The nominating committee reported the following names: For president, Clarence Cowell; first vice-president, R. H. Espey; second vice-president, Peter J. Crosby; secretary, R. Baker; assistant secretary, Frank Garrison; treasurer, E. T. Joste; sergeant-at-arms, Sid Wilson and R. T. Goodell.

The nominations were confirmed and the secretary instructed to cast the ballot for the nominees.

In retiring from the chair, Mr. Woother made a short address thanking the members for their support during the past year and expressing his hope that the club would make a steady advance.

Upon taking the chair Mr. Crowell made a short speech, saying that with the co-operation of the members the organization would prove more useful than ever before. He said that he had always had a desire to become the president of the club and expressed the hope that he might do as well in the office as his predecessors, J. W. Stetson, to whom he paid high tribute.

Mr. Crowell then called for the selection of delegates to the State Convention of Republican Clubs in San Jose during the present month. The club is entitled to forty-two delegates to the convention, and the nomination of the delegation after consultation among the members. After discussion the motion was carried, with the provision that the members name all delegates as possible during the evening.

Dr. George C. Pardee was elected as delegate-at-large.

The cause of the ill feeling between the two men is said to date back to a year ago, when the complaining witness further had Vogt arrested for battery. Since then considerable ill feeling is alleged to have existed between the neighbors, culminating yesterday in Vogt taking a shot at O'Neill on account of the complaining witness' dog chasing one of Vogt's chickens.

WHAT GOULD IS DOING.

It is now an admitted fact that George J. Gould is behind the Clark-Kearns road that is being built from Salt Lake to Los Angeles. While the circumstances indicated this all along, it is significant that the promoters no longer deem concealment necessary. It means that plans are practically perfected for the invasion of the California field by the Gould system and the opening of a new transcontinental line with terminals in this State.

It may be taken for granted that the Gould system will not stop short of San Francisco. The project to build another line between San Francisco and Los Angeles appears to have Gould backing, and the indications point to a crescent being built from the San Joaquin Valley to a point on the Salt Lake and Los Angeles road somewhere north of Pioche, Nevada. Such a line would tap all the base metal districts in Southern Nevada, and afford direct communication with the East via Denver and Kansas City.

Throwing light on these suggested plans is the announcement of the Baltimore Sun that Gould is in alliance with Senator Clark, Senator Ely and Colonel Keens in the West Virginia Central, which is now trying to buy the Western Maryland Railroad from the city of Baltimore. The West Virginia Central, which seems destined to become a portion of the Walsh system, is now completing a tidewater outlet on the south side of the Potomac, but it is still shut out from the great centers of population on the seaboard north of Washington. The Western Maryland would not only afford an outlet to the east for the West Virginia coal fields, but would give a direct line of communication to the seaboard from Pittsburgh and the Great Lakes.

Evidently the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe are taking heed of those plans for another through line, for they are strengthening their communications everywhere and spending vast sums in reducing grades and shortening curves. Their extraordinary activity shows that they have accepted it as a fact that the Gould system is soon to be a competing factor in transcontinental traffic.

JUDGE BY THE RECORD.

When the League of Republican Clubs meets in San Jose, the record of the Republican State Administration will be forced upon the attention of the delegates, and that record must be judged on its merits, apart from personal likes and dislikes or the jealousies of factional politics. The Republican party is responsible for the administration, and the League of Clubs, as a body representative of the rank and file of the party, must pass judgment on the manner in which the stewardship committed to the gentlemen now in office has been fulfilled.

Has the State been given an honest, capable and economical administration, such as the Republican party promised in its last State platform?

The answer must be yes. Many sanitary reforms have been effected in the various public institutions, the tax rate has been reduced, and economy and effectiveness enforced in all branches of the service. This is what concerns the public, and is the standard by which the administration must be judged. Upon this showing it has a right to claim the unqualified commendation of a body representative of all elements of the party. This gathering is not called to voice protests, resentments and disappointments, but to discuss Republican policies in general and to pass on the official records made by those whose election the Republican party has promoted and stands sponsor for.

Doubtless the convention will see the elementary wisdom of keeping in the middle of the road and letting side issues and personal animosities severely alone. The injection of personal squabbles into the proceedings should be frowned down.

It is evident that the Boers have lost nothing in morale and discipline notwithstanding the desultory character of the war they are conducting. On the contrary they fight with more steadiness and resolution than at the beginning. The dispatches state that they came out in the open and attacked an equal or superior force of regulars in an entrenched position. Although finally repulsed, they retired without signs of panic. This does not indicate disheartenment. If De la Rey or Botha had commanded the Boers at the siege of Ladysmith it is more than probable that Sir George White's gallant defense would have been in vain. Readers of history will recall that in the war in the Low-Countries the Dutch burghers finally lost their dread of the Spanish infantry, then the most renowned soldiers in Europe. The Boers began the war a loose mounted militia, but they have gradually improved in their military methods.

William J. Furnish, the Republican nominee for Governor in Oregon, was a Democrat up to 1866, when he abandoned the party because of its surrender to Bryan and Populism. He seems to have taken a front seat rather early for so recent a convert, but he is admittedly a man of great force and popularity.

"Missouri is safely Democratic," shouts the St. Louis Republic. Admitted, and it may also be noted that there were two railroad hold-ups in Missouri this week.

FRANK UNDERWORTH RECEIVES INJURIES ON TIDAL CANAL.

He Was Acting as a Brakeman on a Dirt Train When He Was Caught Between the Cars.

ALAMEDA, April 5.—Early this morning Frank Underworth, a brakeman employed at the tidal canal, was crushed between two cars and it is feared that his back is broken. It appears that Underworth made a practice of hanging on the sides of the cars while riding.

This goes to the heart of the whole matter. Mr. Lynch has not been charged with misconduct in office. It cannot be denied that his duties have been performed with admirable regularity and fidelity. It was not asserted that Mr. Lynch was other than an estimable and honorable man in private life. His character and habits, like his official record, are beyond reproach.

But the President was asked by certain Republicans to remove Mr. Lynch on the sole ground that he was the friend of certain other Republicans, that he espoused their cause in the party councils and aided them as a citizen and a voter in directing the policy of the Republican organization.

The whole case against Mr. Lynch can be summed up in the statement that he refused to forsake his political friends because they had aroused the enmity of others. The accusation was true and its truth is honorable to Mr. Lynch. It shows him to be loyal in the discharge of his public duties. President Roosevelt took the view of the case that a man who had witnessed the accident the brakeman was in an unconscious condition. He was removed to the railroad hospital. He is a resident of West Oakland.

AN OPINION FOR THE CITY TRUSTEES.

ALAMEDA, April 5.—Some time ago the City Trustees requested City Attorney Simpson's opinion in regard to a city official owning teams in the employ of the city. The question was brought up by recent charges made by the attorney for Hammond by A. Gardner. Last night Attorney Simpson presented to the Board the following opinion:

"Alameda City, April 4, 1902. To the Board of Trustees of the City of Alameda: Gentlemen—Pursuant to your request for an written opinion interpreting section 811 of the Municipal Corporation Act forbidding the interest of city officers in contracts with the city, I respectfully submit the following:

"The law referred to does not prohibit the ownership by an officer of the city of teams or apparatus in the employ of the city where the owner has actually and in good faith leased the same to another for his own use, and who has control and possession thereof according to law and has no interest contingent or otherwise in procuring work for said teams or apparatus.

"In such a case the officer may retain ownership without infringing the law and claims for compensation for work done by the lessee under such circumstances are legal.

"As to the fact of any particular case the Board of Trustees must always be judge since it is delegated the duty of passing on all claims."

"M. J. SIMPSON,

DEBATING SOCIETY HOLDS MEETING IN ENCINAL.

ALAMEDA, April 5.—The sub-junior Debating Society of the Alameda High School held its initial debate yesterday afternoon at the school. The question was: "Resolved, That wood is of more benefit than coal."

The speakers for the affirmative were given the decision. In the following sub-junior participated in the debate: Edie Willmore, affirmative; Frank Bremer, negative; John Parker, affirmative; Asa Shwood, negative; Gerald Brooks, negative.

The next debate is to be held in two weeks. The question will be: "Resolved, That athletes should be encouraged." The affirmative will be represented by

Surprising Results

A Simple Internal Remedy Makes Remarkable Cures of Catarrh.

People who have used sprays, inhalers, salves and washes for catarrh and have found how useless and inconvenient they are, will be agreeably surprised at results following the use of a pleasant, internal remedy in tablet form; drugists everywhere admit that Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, which they sell at 50 cents for full sized treatment is the safest, most effective and popular of all catarrh remedies.

Nearly all cheap cough mixtures and throat lozenges contain opiates; these cheap medicines give a temporary relief, especially with little children by destroying nerve sensation; the irritation in throat, which causes coughing is temporarily removed not by removing the cause, but by deadening the nerves of feeling the irritation is not felt although it is still there and will promptly return. To remove the catarrh irritation, whether in the nose, throat or stomach, because they are composed of wholesome antiseptics. Blood root, Red gum, from myrrh, calypodium, etc. When you are shooting ablets, you know that you are putting into your system and not taking chances with cocaine, opiates or similar poisons found in so many catarrh cures on the market.

Dr. Mansfield, in commenting on catarrh cases, says: "I can heartily recommend Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, because they contain no cocaine or other dangerous drug, for they are not only advertised as 'catarrh cures,' I have known in many cases of long standing catarrh of the head and throat completely cured by the daily use of these tablets for several months. One case of paroxysmal, which could not react with inhaler or spray, where the catarrh caused daily headaches and a noticeable loss of hearing was entirely cured by this harmless and effective remedy."

Dr. Wainwright says: "I never hesitate to prescribe Stuart's Catarrh Tablets for catarrhal headaches and catarrhal deafness because I know that they are perfectly safe for children and have seen many remarkable cures resulting from their regular daily use; because they are advertised and sold in drug stores, no reason why any good druggist should not use them because we should seize upon the means of cure wherever found."

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are especially good for cerebral colds in children because they are pleasant to the taste and may be used freely to break up severe colds and croup at the very beginning.

It now appears that Captain Christmas, who made the scandalous report that forms the basis of the investigation, Congress is now making into the purchase of the Danish West Indies, was dismissed from the Danish navy. His antecedents and his methods harmonize very well.

"Missouri is safely Democratic," shouts the St. Louis Republic. Admitted, and it may also be noted that there were two railroad hold-ups in Missouri this week.

HE ORGANIZES THE CATHOLICS

Large Meeting Held in St. Mary's Hall Last Night.

Hon. Eugene Blakeslee of Texas, Grand National Organizer of the Catholic Knights of America, delivered an address last night at St. Mary's Hall, corner Grove and Eighth streets, under the auspices of Branch 59.

Quite a large audience greeted the speaker, who spoke at length on the many advantages of the order of Catholic Knights of America. He said in part:

"Much has been said on the subject of fraternity in order to stimulate our hearts to a true sense of fellowship. Still this great and grand sentiment which should be ingrained into every member of our order is still dormant in the hearts of some, and one reason why the order of Catholic Knights of America is more languishing than it should be, is because others are because of the attention paid to the fraternal and social features of the organization. This very clause in our constitution is the sole cause of the phenomenal growth of the order in the East."

The best means of indicating the spirit of fraternity among the members is through its social features, which is the vital and essential part of all fraternal order.

"When we look forward to the near future when the banner of Catholic Knighthood will wave gloriously over every Catholic home in California, the order will be the largest in the world. The organization considered was as follows:

Remarks by John J. McDonald.

Vocal solo—John Lawless.

Address—Rev. E. J. Nolan.

Address—Hon. Eugene Blakeslee.

Recitation—J. P. Martin.

Vocal duet—Miss King and Miss Laferty.

Recitation—George Clark.

Remarks by State President John Lynch.

About twenty-five applications were received.

MEETING OF REPUBLICANS IN THE GARDEN CITY.

Campaigners Getting Down to Business--Figuring on Speaker--How the Candidates Are Looming Up in the Race.

(Special to The Tribune.)

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5--Despite the many mysterious references that are being made to the approaching league gathering at San Jose, there is little likelihood that anything of marked political significance will transpire there. Judging by the bitter contests that have been made in many quarters for places upon the delegations a lot of people have come to the conclusion that representation will be of considerable importance, and it is this sort of skirmishing that has created the impression that something in the nature of a sensation will be on the program when the league gets down to work.

Investigation shows, however, that it is merely a case of one faction being afraid of the other. The those people, not wishing to take the chances of the opposition forces being in control and in a position to force through what resolutions they please, are determined to be on hand in full force and with the Flint elements it is a case of vice versa, for they do not want to run the risk of being voted down if any issue affecting their cause is in the balance.

FIGURING ON SPEAKER.

With each side distrustful of the other's strength and capabilities it is very improbable, therefore, that any gauntlet will be thrown down, for with such a vast number of delegates on hand and so many unknown quantities on the scene, it would be a daring and perhaps disastrous piece of work to call for a test of strength. Outside, therefore, of being a hurrash meeting and discussing plans, programs and policies for the coming State campaign, it does not look that much will be accomplished by the league, though, in the line of side issues there will be a vast amount of more or less important work done, for nearly all the aspirants for places upon the State ticket have signified their intention of being on hand.

President Alden Anderson, who will call the gathering to order, has been confronted during the past few days with the problem of whether or not the procedure will be to call for the election of a chairman to preside during the convention. Many see danger in this, for should any of those placed in nomination be pronounced for either Gage or Flint, as they probably would, it be important enough to be singled out of the ranks of the party--then there might possibly arise a tug-of-war between the contending factions, a condition that those in charge of the affair are most anxious to avoid.

As Anderson is acceptable to both sides, it is suggested, therefore, that he not only call the league to order, but remain in the chair until the work is ended, at which time the election of a new president for the ensuing year will come up as a regular order of business. In this connection it may be stated that Senator Lukens of Oakland has for a long time been looming up prominently as a successor to Anderson, and if everything works out as encouragingly as it looks at the present time he will undoubtedly secure that honor.

DOWN TO BUSINESS.

When the San Jose gathering is over the campaign will start up in full blast as far as the candidates are concerned. Apart from the aspirants for Governor and Clerk of the Supreme Court very little has so far been done by those seeking places upon the ticket, but the hour for hustling is now at hand and although the race is not always to the swift, the individual who wants to get anything must at least get out and assert himself.

Despite all the names that were at one time connected with the Lieutenant Governor there is now no one being directly mentioned as in line for it. Congressman Woods was the leading probability up to a few weeks ago when he declared that he would forgo all such ambitions in order to clear the track for Orrin Henderson of Stockton, who wants to succeed Blackstock as Railroad Commissioner. Alameda County, by the way, is occasionally mentioned for the honor in question, and there is no doubt that if either George Reed or Charles Snook went after it seriously they would experience but little difficulty in landing it.

Should the nomination for Governor go to Gage again it is the plan of that faction to tender the second place upon the ticket to the far north and it is not improbable that later on the State machine will endeavor to swing Edson into line by first pointing out to him that his plans to become governor are futile and then offering to nominate him as Lieutenant Governor. It would be a fine proposition for the Republican ticket to have the northern and the southern parts of the State represented in such a way and it would not be surprising if Flint, should he be in control of the State Convention, tries to make a similar deal.

LAUMEISTER'S CHANCES.

In the other railroad district, that at present represented by Laumeister, there is possibility of a change owing to what occurred in connection with the

during the past few days regarding the Attorney Generalship. It is now well understood that General Ford will not seek renomination, for although no formal announcement has been made of the fact, he has been selected to preside over the legal destinies of the United States Railways. Just what this means in the line of salary is not generally known, but Ford will undoubtedly fare well estimates on the proposition crediting him as the prospective recipient of from $6,000 to $12,000 per year.

With Ford out of the way the general opposition would naturally be that he was not cleared for Arthur Fisk of San Francisco, who started out after the nomination three months ago. Fisk did considerable canvassing on the proposition throughout the State, but although he received lots of encouragement he has, acting under the advice of his political associates, decided to seek his old place in the Assembly. The banners are, therefore, down for Attorney General and if the right man goes after the nomination he will have an easy task handling it.

FIGURING ON SPEAKER.

There has been some talk in a quiet way during the past few days that Fisk's return to the legislative arena means that he will be a candidate for Speaker. The situation as regards that office is in an interesting condition just now, for although the powers that are willing to have it go to Pendleton again they cannot afford this year when so many important State candidates are at stake, to make the kind of fight for him that they did a couple of years ago. It is not settled yet anything that Pendleton will try for the Assembly, for when the Senatorial district where he resides was made up it was with the object of enabling him to carry it. Ex-City Attorney Walter T. Haas of Los Angeles has been put into that fight, however, by the Flint people, and sooner than take the chance of being beaten and shut out altogether, it is now said that Pendleton will be satisfied with another term in the House.

That Alden Anderson is setting his cap at the Speakership once more is considered plain by some people and it is significant that the machine people who opposed him last year with Pendleton are not in arms against him now like they were then. This can be easily accounted for when it is remembered that Gage would very much like to carry Solano County, an achievement that would be an impossibility if the administration started in to buck Anderson. Without the necessity for a combination, therefore, or even an understanding, it can be seen that Gage's managers would be only too glad to keep hands off Anderson this time if in return would not make rabid fight against their end of it.

FOR RAILROAD COMMISSIONER.

Solano County is in truth being accorded a whole lot of consideration by the machine, for the candidacy of Will Crooks of Benicia for Railroad Commissioner has been taken up by that end of it and he is already rounding up the strength he hopes to concentrate later. Col. R. E. Robbins of Suisun is likewise on hand as a candidate for the State Board of Equalization, but it is palpable that if Crooks is to be taken up there can be no hope held out to him, that is to say, from the Gage end of it.

The reason Crook's candidacy for Railroad Commissioner has been espoused as against that of Alec Irwin of Marysville, is because at present reading there does not seem to be the ghost of a chance for Irwin to carry Yuba County. Cutler has declared a vendetta against him there and is fighting him to a finish and as Irwin stands with the same end of politics up that way he too would not attempt to make up a delegation in the interests of the Governor.

BLACKSTOCK'S FIGHT.

The only other district nomination over which at the present time there is any semblance of a contest is the Third District, where Orrin Henderson of Stockton is breaking lances with the incumbent, N. Blackstock of Ventura. While Blackstock is popular enough, he finds himself in the unfortunate position of being a machine man in an anti-machine county, for, owing to Hurd's residence in Ventura and his many local affiliations there, it must be conceded that that delegation will be made up in the interests of Flint.

Many cases of appendicitis have been brought on by coffee drinking. It first affects the nerves of the stomach, and the disorder travels on down through the bowels and results in some kind of bowel trouble, frequently appendicitis.

A lady in Fredonia, N. Y., says, "During my school life, both as a student and teacher, I drank coffee regularly. Most of the time I knew the coffee was injuring me but I did not feel like giving it up. First my nerves felt the effect and later on constipation developed, and after that, the last year I had a severe attack of appendicitis. My doctor and friends all agreed that these troubles were largely caused by coffee drinking.

The Ventura people, however, have lots of local patriotism and this fact will give their vote to Blackstock, machine or no machine. It is palpable, however, that if the present State conditions continue he will not be able to trade his home delegation and that being so his prospects are not particularly bright. On the other hand, Henderson will not only have San Joaquin County made up solidly for him, but the delegation will be his for trading purposes first, last and all the time, thus giving him an opportunity to do the most effective work possible. Although Henderson has not declared himself for Flint for Governor, it is known that his tendencies lean that way, but although the Gage people for that reason look somewhat askance at his candidacy, they are scarcely inclined to buck him, for they figure that a turn of the cards might come that would bring him into their fold.

LAUMEISTER'S CHANCES.

"While I was ill some Postum was sent me by my friends, I supposed it was coffee and hesitated at the first cup, but when the difference was explained, and I drank as much as I could for, with such good results, I concluded Postum was just what I wanted and have used it ever since. It greatly aids digestion, is nourishing and refreshing.

My diet and nourishment while getting well from appendicitis were Postum and Grape Nuts.

"If I had known of Postum years ago I might have been saved a tremendous amount of suffering brought on by coffee drinking.

"Rev. — is one of my converts to Postum. He suffered greatly from dyspepsia but has entirely recovered since he quit coffee and began using Postum.

"I who suffered long while from nervous troubles says Postum brought him out when he quit coffee, and he constantly urges it on his patients who are coffee drinkers."

MAJOR AND MINOR KEYS IN BILLING AND COOING.

How Girls in Search of Work
Are Insulted--The Bible Illustrated by Medieval Art.

The occult side of music is receiving considerable attention just now, and its devotees claim that every human being is attuned to a certain key. They go still further, and declare that woman is always in a minor, man in a major key.

As in music every major key has its relative minor, so it is with human beings, and when you find your relative key represented in person of the opposite sex, you will find a mind harmonizing in the minutest particulars with your own.

What a charming idea for lovers! And how much easier of solution it makes the whole question of marriage! Instead of entering upon bolds matrimonial in a sort of hit or miss fashion, as has been the way heretofore, all that is necessary, according to the students of mystery, is to find out what key you are in, and then to go around hunting your relative, wherever he or she may be.

On this proposition it is a wonder that some of these same students have not set up a marriage bureau, where amorous youths and maidens can go to and out their respective keys. Not the slightest doubt need there be of its financial success, for the doors of such an establishment would be fairly stormed by seekers after self knowledge.

It is customary to speak of the many temptations by which an actress is assailed, and to warn young women, by reason thereof, not to seek the life of the footlights. As a matter of fact, there isn't so very much temptation spread before the actress than in the pathway of any other young woman who attempts to earn a livelihood.

Men have always regarded women as their legitimate prey, and seldom miss the opportunity of adding another scalp to their belt. However, it takes two to make a bargain, and the girl forced to earn her livelihood would do well to be backed by sound worldly knowledge and power to resist temptation.

Mothers are frequently to blame for things which happen to their daughters, simply through the neglect of a little plain talk with them.

There are pitfalls for the unwary in every great city, and to be forewarned is forearmed.

There is a certain class of men who watch the "want ads" in the daily papers, and who reply to them, pretending they are in need of an office assistant, say stenographer or bookkeeper. When the applicant arrives at the office, she is confronted by an insult instead of work.

One Oakland girl, a bookkeeper in search of employment, who went, in response to a reply to an advertisement, to one of the big buildings full of offices in San Francisco, found herself admitted to a small inner room with a bed in it. She did not await explanations, but ran out through an opposite door, which, fortunately for her, happened to be unlocked, and gained the elevator before the man had an opportunity to stop her.

Similar occurrences happen every day, but they are seldom heard of because these girls who work in offices do not like the idea of publicity attached to their names.

Just last Tuesday an acquaintance of mine advertised for a position, and in reply thereto received an unsigned letter naming a place of meeting, and saying that the writer thereof was in business in Nome, and thought she might like to accompany him there.

It is a pity these wretches cannot be exposed and summarily dealt with.

By no means is the actress the only tempted one of her sex.

By the way, how is it we hear so much of the temptations before young girls and so little of the temptations in the pathway of young men, when the latter are as three to one?

As a writer in the Cosmopolitan said not long ago, "Women are the mothers of men," which is equivalent to saying that men are what women make them.

There is a gentleman in this city, Mr. Abramovsky, who has a hobby for collecting curios. Among the many interesting objects in his possession is a book which in all probability has not its duplicate in the whole world. It consists of one hundred of the finest steel engravings, illustrating the entire story of the Bible, and was published some time during the sixteenth century--about four hundred years ago.

The book is in an excellent state of preservation, and is the work of one of the most celebrated artists of that time. In point of conception as well as work it is certainly a masterpiece. Each engraving consists, as it were, of many in one. That is to say, there is one large central picture, representing the leading event of the man or time, and around the edges are many smaller ones, each telling a story of its own. Mr. Abramovsky is thinking of having lantern slides made from these engravings, and if so it is possible that any who will may have an opportunity to judge for themselves of the work of this book.

STUDENTS WANT

SPECIAL RATE.

Request of Elmhurst

Refused by Oakland

Transit Company.

ELMHURST, April 5.—A communication was recently forwarded to F. C. Havens of the Oakland Transit Company, requesting that a special rate be made from Elmhurst to Haywards, similar to the rate between San Leandro and Haywards. The request was made for the benefit of a number of Elmhurst young people who attend the Haywards schools. In reply to the request the Company stated that it found it impossible to establish such a rate.

Pollowing is the answer received:

"Oakland, Calif., April 1, 1902.

"Newton Gray, Elmhurst, Cal.

"Dear Sir—In response to your recent letter to Mr. F. C. Havens concerning special school rate, Elmhurst to Haywards, permit me to say that the matter has been duly considered by our directory, and we regret that we cannot comply with your request. Very truly,

"W. J. KEILY, Vice-President and General Manager."

The Wrong Connection.

The telephone girl and the bill clerk, to whom she had promised her heart and hand, were sitting in front of the fireplace talking about the happy days to come when they would be one.

From one little detail to another the talk finally drifted to the subject of lighting the fires in the morning. On this point the young man was decided.

He states it as his emphatic opinion that it was a wife's place to get up and start the fires and let her poor hard-worked husband rest.

After this decision there was a silence for the space of about three-quarters of a second. Then the telephone girl thrust out her nose, encircled by her engagement ring and murmured sweetly but firmly:

"Ring out, please. You have got connected with the wrong number."

The pulpit announcements for tomorrow are as follows:

Meeting is free. Special

Only Safe Medicine for Babies.

The insides of babies-in-arms and little children are very delicate and tender. Mothers must not be reckless in the use of medicines. There is only one gentle, perfect, safe medicine for babies:

"Cascarets are fine for babies with infantile, colic, and gripes, and children from twelve months to three years old. I use them daily in my practice."—Dr. A. E. Griffin, St. Louis, Mo.

"I find Cascarets, in the form of a syrup, to be the best medicine I ever used. They do just what you want them to do."—Alice C. Clegg, 81 Eighth St., So. Boston.

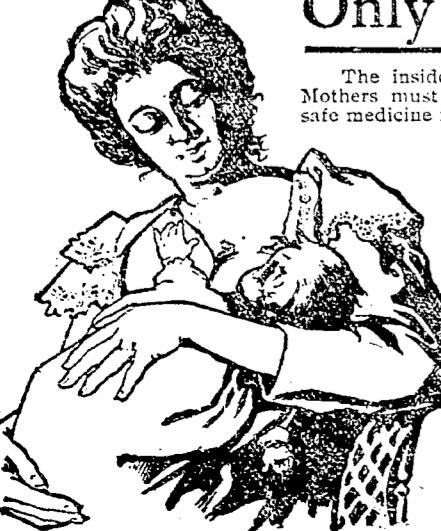

"One baby was sick and we were advised to try Cascarets. It was entirely cured. Cascarets are a most valuable medicine."—Mrs. S. C. Chapman, Stephens Mills, N. Y.

"I have become a firm believer in the efficacy of Cascarets. I have had many likes and dislikes. Mrs. Lida Cermak, Jersey City.

"Cascarets are indispensable for young children. They are a great help in cases of gripes, colic, and gripes. My baby has been entirely cured with Cascarets. I can't imagine instant relief."—Mrs. E. Ziegler, Delco, Ohio.

Mamma takes a CASCARET, baby gets the benefit. Isn't that good sense? The sweet, palatable Candy Cathartic Cascaret, eaten by the nursing mother, not only regulates her system and increases her flow of milk, but makes her milk mildly purgative. Cascarets gets the effect diluted and as parts of its regular, natural food;—no violence—no danger—perfectly natural results. No more sour curds in baby's stomach, no more wind, colic, restless nights.

Best for the Bowels. All druggists, 10c, 25c, 50c. Never sold in bulk. Genuine tablet stamped C. C. G. Guaranteed to cure your money back. Sample and booklet free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York, N. Y.

sued, and the affair is in charge of a committee made up of a representative from each fraternity, and including Frank Dutton, Moulton Warner, John More, Will Robbins, F. B. Caldwell and Gurney Newlin. Each fraternity will give a dinner to some of the guests, and after the dance will entertain a number of the younger ones at house parties.

The dance will begin at 9:30, and at 2 o'clock special cars will carry the guests back to Berkeley. The hall is to be elaborately decorated in red and green. Later in the evening supper will be served.

The patricesses are: Mrs. Benjamin Ide Wheeler, Mrs. F. V. Page, Mrs. C. M. Gayley, Mrs. C. C. Plehn, Mrs. A. A. Voorhees and Mrs. A. A. Moore.

A PRETTY DINNER.

Mrs. Will Magee gave a pretty dinner this week in honor of General and Mrs. Oscar Long at the Magee home on Madison street.

The decorations were American Beauty roses. At the table were Mr. and Mrs. William A. Magee, General and Mrs. Long, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Magee, Captain and Mrs. C. G. Goodall, Mr. and Mrs. George S. Wheaton and Mr. and Mrs. H. M. A. Miller.

LARGE MUSICALE.

One of the largest musicales of the season will be that given at the home of Mrs. Charles Oliver Kirk, 915 Fifth avenue, April 8. It will be given for the benefit of St. Anthony's Church in East Oakland. The proceeds will go to the bazaar fund. The ladies are arranging an excellent program and they promise to secure some of the best talent in the country for the affair. As it is to be given in private, no doubt the affair will be well patronized. The admission fee will be fifty cents.

AN ENGAGEMENT.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Griffith announce the engagement of their daughter, Minnie to Marion Oliver. The wedding will take place early in the summer.

A DELIGHTFUL LUNCHEON.

Miss Theresa Dau was the hostess at 464 Hobart street at a most delightful luncheon given in honor of Miss Ethel Blake of Alameda, who is to marry Bert Trower of this city on Thursday of next week.

The color scheme was green and pink, fruit blossoms being used in profusion. The favors were hand-painted napkin rings and tiny gilded old shoes, artistically fashioned by the maid.

Later in the afternoon a few hands of whist were played.

Miss Alice Lyng carried off the prize, a dainty picture.

Those who enjoyed the luncheon were: Mrs. H. Gurney, Mrs. Harry Ubach, Miss May Manning, Miss Mabel Smyth, Miss Leonie Payot, Miss Florence Chestnut, Miss Lizzie Trower, Miss Alice and Lizzie Denson, Miss Dene and Laura Lehman, Miss Louise Dau, Miss Kathryn Bowersmith, Miss Oine Blake, and the hostess, Miss Theresa Dau.

THURSDAY WHIST CLUB.

The Thursday Whist Club gave one of the largest parties of the season Thursday afternoon in the Ellin Club rooms. About 150 players were present. Great masses of pink and white blossoms were artistically arranged about the large apartment, ferns and other potted plants being banked on the platform. A number of young society girls assisted the members of the club in receiving and in keeping the scores. Several handsome prizes were given. Mrs. H. R. Auerbach the second, Mrs. L. E. Cockcroft the third and the "consolation" going to Mrs. Lillian Brown.

GUESTS AT A LUNCHEON.

Mrs. Kate Bulkley and Mrs. John Russ, president and vice-president respectively of the California Federation of Clubs were honored guests at a luncheon given yesterday by the Oakland New Century Club. The pretty drift clubrooms at Fifth and Peraleo streets were filled with fragrant blossoms. Preceding the luncheon an informal reception was held in the settlement girls' sewing room. Representatives from the various clubs in the federation were present, and on being shown through the building were enthusiastic in their praise of the cozy club rooms and of the many evidences of the excellent work accomplished by the club.

The table at which the guests of honor and other visitors were seated was set in the form of a horseshoe and elaborately decorated with yellow iris and carnations. The guests of honor and the organization they represented were as follows: Mrs. Kate Bulkley, president, and Mrs. Russ, vice-president of the Alameda District; Mrs. Lovell White, president California Club; Mrs. D. W. Plumbington, president Red Cross; Mrs. D. Spencer, Women's Christian Temperance Union; Mrs. A. G. E. Yule, Parlor Society; Mrs. J. P. Gilligan, Alameda; Mrs. George W. Smith, Woman's Alliance; Mrs. George Swan, Town and Gown; Mrs. Phillip S. Teller, Adelphian Club; Mrs. F. T. Parker, Fraternal Club.

At this table were also Mrs. George W. Haight, who spoke entertainingly of "The Greatest Thing on Earth—Love," and Mrs. P. D. Brown, who gave an interesting speech on "Household Economics." Many other guests of the club were present, giving Ninety-three guests were present at the luncheon. The officers of the New Century Club, forming the receiving party, yesterday were: Mr. D. F. Parker, vice-president; Mrs. D. A. Martin, secretary; Mrs. N. T. Foster, corresponding secretary; Mrs. C. O. Habor, membership secretary; Miss Dora Dixon, treasurer.

When you go to the theater it is with the expectation of seeing the striking, the picturesque people on the stage in whom fierce passions have their sway. And then there must be the stage decorations, the brilliant muse in scene. The novelist finds all this in cosmopolitan life in Paris, of which I have spoken, and it is a matter of pleasure to the imagination of every one who reads up modern French romances for their faithful portrayals of real French life.

"Now on the contrary, French society shuns that feature of life rigidly out of doors. The French people are withdrawing themselves more jealously every day from all contact with it. This applies not only to the nobility, who go off to the country, and shut themselves up in their chateaux, but it applies to the middle class as well. The people who live in that world of aristocratic display and ostentatious wealth are given up entirely to their pleasure, and it is not intended that they shall.

"It is from the fall of the empire that this withdrawal within itself of the better French society began. There is now no court to establish the status and identity of people. The republic has eliminated all that.

"And what is this Paris which is not Paris? Simply people of enormous wealth whose only law is their own whims; people who live for pleasure alone. They will not even submit to the laws of nature; to the changes of the season. If Paris gets cold in winter they are off for Nice. If there is a really wind at Nice they are off for Egypt.

"It is not too much to suppose that persons who will not recognize and admit themselves to be the law of their own lives will a little longer do the least, in the moral laws. We find the husband off somewhere, maybe in the south of France. We find the wife in Paris. She has nothing to do. She is adorned with everything that money will buy in the ways of toilettes and jewels and the art of beautifying.

"Does she decorate herself in this way to please other women? Not a bit of it. She enhances her charms for the purpose of attracting the attention of other men, of men, too, who have attractive gifts in conversation, in knowledge or art, in accomplishment, with women, above. Of course, there is, of course, a gross two-and-a-half millionaires who means the home and the family and the perpetuation of the race. It is, on the contrary, the love that leads to disgrace and disaster.

"Love is not a pastime to be taken up temporarily like yachting or coaching. The yacht is wrecked and the coach comes down with a crash one day. That is what happens now and then in that grand Paris which is not Paris—in that group of birds of passage of gilded plumage which France has resolutely determined shall not cross the social thresholds of their homes.

"And they are not French, those inhabitants of that so-called gay Paris world. Take a list of those who figure at any time most prominently in it. Not five in a hundred of them are the names of French men and French women. South Americans who have figured in "revolutions" at home and are in Paris to spend the proceeds; Russians who are there often to ruin themselves, people from the Levant, the Persians of all types go to make up the throng; they are somehow pathetic and they appeal to the sentimentalists as symbolic. The East is East and the West is West, when the Indian child tries to play with the Paris doll. And it is not the irresponsiveness of the little savage that makes the barrier between the two, but the self-satisfied and unapproachable nature of the Indian child which civilization has offered her in place of

THIEVES AGGRAVATE CONTRACTOR'S WOES

The troubles of W. J. Enrict, the West Oakland machinist, seem to be multiplying. Last night burglars broke into his machine shop at 1257 Seventh street and stole four brass screw caps from the engine fire engine, over which Enrict and the Board of Public Works have had so many controversies.

The burglars effected an entrance by prying off an iron bar from a rear door. They took nothing but the caps from the fire engine and a hammer belonging to Enrict. They left by the door. They took nothing but the caps.

The trouble with Enrict and the Board of Public Works grew out of the former's contract to repair fire engine No. 5. The Board of Works sent an inspector to watch the work and Enrict ejected him. Then the Board refused to approve the bill for $200 due for the work, and since the Board and Enrict have been wrangling over the matter, there has hardly been a meeting of the Board since the contract was let that there has not been friction over the engine.

In the meantime the engine, although completed, has been in Enrict's shop. The caps stolen are valued at about $25.

CITY TAXES ARE COMING IN

Payments on the second installment of city taxes are now being made rapidly. The second installment will become delinquent on April 28th. On April 1st there were $150,000 to be collected.

BENEFIT GIVEN TO THE LADIES' RELIEF SOCIETY.

Mrs. J. N. Knowles has issued invitations for a tea and neckwear sale for the benefit of the Ladies' Relief Society, at her residence, corner of Fifteenth and Jackson streets, on Wednesday afternoon, April 9, from 1 to 6 o'clock. All the ladies of the society are asked to assist in receiving. The tea table will be presided over by Mrs. R. G. Brown, assisted by her daughter, and a number of young ladies will assist the Misses Knowles in entertaining. The latest novelties in dainty collars, etc., etc., will be for sale, summer hats for children and also home made candies. As the invitation list is possibly incomplete, the ladies are requested to extend it to all their friends. The affair promises to be a delightful one, and it is hoped it will be largely patronized.

TOWN TALK.
This week's Town Talk is simply crammed with news. There is a lot of good stuff about the University, Pacific Union, Sorosis and Century Clubs, the Artists' and Society, the adventure of two Oakland women in Boston, Miss Francis Joliffe in the role of a prominent sister, May Greene's Passion Play, the Gracie Shain romance, Mrs. Salisbury as a matchmaker, etc. The financial department gives some news of what is doing in finance. E. J. Morgan's romance is told in the stage department, and all the other departments are equally interesting.

PURCHASED BY WM. J. DINGEE

Secures Valuable Property in the Heart of San Francisco.

One of the most important deals made in San Francisco real estate recently is the purchase by William J. Dingee of the Maison Riche property at the corner of Geary street and Grant avenue. This property, long known as the Maison Altilio, was for years the most famous restaurant in San Francisco, being built and equipped in elaborate style for that purpose. It is one of the most desirable pieces of property in San Francisco, being situated in the heart of the retail region, only one block in two directions from the most crowded section of Market street. It is one block from Kearny street and lies directly between the Palace Hotel and the splendid new hotel the Crocker estate is building on Union Square.

The property has a frontage of 122.6 feet on Grant avenue and 46.7 feet on Geary street, with 60 feet in the rear on Union Square avenue. The building on the lot is a substantial modern iron and brick structure of three stories, which is leased for two and one-half years to come; an annual rental of $18,500. It is the intention of Mr. Dingee to remodel the building at the expiration of the leases and build on two more stories.

The exact sum paid by Mr. Dingee is not known, but it is understood to be a little under $220,000. The property was purchased in 1889 by Davis Brothers of the Emporium for $142,000. Subsequently they erected the present building at a cost of $135,000, their total investment being $275,000. Real estate men consider that Mr. Dingee has got a great bargain.

The sale was negotiated by Boeve, Toy & Company.

PUNISHMENT IS DEBATED BY MOTHERS

The theme for discussion at the East Oakland W. C. T. U. mothers' meeting yesterday was the never settled one of corporal punishment. Mrs. S. L. Locke, superintendent of the department, asked the women present to read the opinions gathered on this subject from prominent people and educators in San Francisco. The majority favor corporal punishment, but only when all other means fail, and Superintendent of Schools Webster says from 700 to 900 boys are whipped each school year in San Francisco. Most of those present who are in favor of corporal punishment in extreme cases, among children can be controlled in no other way than by the rod, sparingly administered. "Spank the rod and spoil the child" was not endorsed, however, by Dr. H. P. Van Kirk, who dubbed corporal punishment "A Relic of Barbarism."

WHY THE BONDSEN WANTED TO RETIRE

In relation to the withdrawal of C. W. Kinsey and W. F. Lewis from the bond of Charles F. Kinsey as administrator of the estate of the late Elizabeth G. McClish, deceased, the explanation is simple. The latter simply desired to have a bond in corporation, that he would not be liable obligations to anybody. Everything is harmonious and the bondsmen withdrew at the request of C. F. Kinsey. The expenses were $550 instead of $550 as reported.

SMALL BLAZE ON AN ELECTRIC CAR

The Fire Department was called to Eleventh and Oak streets, at 1:30 o'clock last night to extinguish flames beneath an electric car. The burning car had been removed by another car, however, before the Department arrived. The woodwork beneath the car had become ignited from the electrical apparatus. There were several passengers aboard and they were badly frightened, but there was little damage done.

CITIZEN FLEES FROM MASKED HIGHWAYMEN

E. G. Hughes of 1238 Center street, reported an attempted hold up to the police last evening. He says he was returning home about 6 o'clock and when in the neighborhood of Eighth and Peralta streets two masked men attempted to rob him. He used his heels to good advantage and escaped. Hughes is unable to give any description of the men further than to say they were of medium size and wore dark clothing.

THE GRAND JURY MAY ADJOURN SOON

The Grand Jury met this morning at 10 o'clock and adjourned after a short session, until next Friday at 10 o'clock a.m. There were no witnesses summoned to appear before the body.

This fact leads some people to believe that the jury had come together for the purpose of considering the report made to it by ex-Grand Jury Expert Sturtevant, which it is understood, contains certain suggestions as regards changes of procedure in county affairs, which the court may or may not see fit to adopt.

Notwithstanding the jury is what is known as the "long grand jury," an impression obtains that it is not far from the truth of its term.

This impression is based, among other things on a remark which one of the grand jurors inadvertently made after the Grand Jury had left its meeting place to a reporter, who asked:

"Any report today?"

"No," said the juror. "The foreman (John L. Beard) was absent."

The inference from this answer is that, had Senator Beard been in attendance, a report of the jury would have been returned.

THE PHOENIX NINE TO PLAY BOHEMIANS

The long expected game between the Phoenix nine of St. Mary's college and the Bohemians will take place on next Sunday at Freeman's Park, immediately following the League game.

These two teams are among the leading amateur organizations of the State and the contest for supremacy should prove highly interesting. Each team has already triumphed over the other and the players of both nines will undoubtedly put up good ball to gain the victory.

The Bohemians have not played many games so far, but in their ranks are some very fast men. The Phoenix, lately defeated the Santa Clara team, and can rightly claim to have the best team amongst the colleges of the Coast.

Flynn and Ryan will be on the field for St. Mary's, while Peige and Callaghan will officiate for the Bohemians. Following the lineups of the two teams: Phoenix: Ryan, catcher; Flynn, second base; Phelan, third base; Haley, short stop; Bishy, left field; Callaghan, center field; Lundy, right field.

Bohemians: Callaghan, catcher; Peige, pitcher; A. Poulter, Smith, second base; C. Potter, third base; Platt, short stop; Schrine, center field; Short, right field.

CHINESE STABS BOY WITH POCKET KNIFE

Charles West, who lives on Fifth avenue in East Oakland shouted "monkey" at a Chinese peddler yesterday and the latter slashed him in the back with a sharp pocket knife. The trouble occurred on the Twelfth street dam, where West had been fishing.

The injured boy who is 17 years old escaped by running and his wound was dressed in an East Oakland drug store. The Chinese has not been arrested.

DENTAL CLUB HOLDS ITS REGULAR MEETING

The Oakland Dental Club held its regular meeting in the Central Bank Building, with Dr. Ray E. Gilson presiding. During the evening Dr. Pease described a number of interesting cases. Dr. Lewis also read an instructive paper pertaining to dentistry.

PROHIBITION COMMITTEE MEETING

A meeting of the State Central Committee of the Prohibition party will be held at the W. C. T. U. building, 32 McAllister street, San Francisco, on Thursday, April 10th, at 2 o'clock p.m.

STRICKEN FROM CALENDAR.

The charge of sleeping out against Frank Osborn was stricken from the calendar by Police Judge Smith this morning. Osborn was arrested on February 5th and has since been allowed to leave the city.

THIRTY DAYS FOR BEGGING.

John Daley, alias Creagh, a healthy beggar, was sent to the county jail for month by Police Judge Smith this morning.

Monkey and Pot of Jam.

A sweet little story concerning a pet monkey and a pot of jam is vouchsafed by a John Hopkins University student now residing on McCulloch street.

It was in the country and all on a summer's day the family monkey was seen scudding homeward, literally drenched in raspberry jam. He was pursued by an irate neighbor with uplifted broom, but once safe on the home plate he swung himself lightly into the nearest tree and peacefully listened to her tale of woe.

It seems the neighbor had some hours before been making jam in a great bowl of which sat cooling on a table beneath the trees. This the monkey spied, but had carefully started literally clinging himself to it when he was discovered. With lead poetry and the broom the lady started toward him, when the mischievous beast, knowing his minutes were numbered, hastily overturned the bowl on the table. Then rolling himself joyously in it several times from head to heels he scampered beyond her reach. During the recital of her woes and, in fact, for the remainder of the day, the monkey sat scoping the sweetmeat from his body and licking his paws with glee.

Threatened Coercion in Ireland.

It remains to be seen whether Lord Cadogan at the next Cabinet will be forced to convert men into criminals by statute who cannot be made criminals by law. If so, that proclamation can be received with nothing but contempt. Where sufficient bayonets can be gathered together to support it, it may succeed for a time, but in the end, either this country will have to be governed by martial law or the conspirators of Dublin Castle will have to be packed bag and baggage out of this country—from the Dublin Evening Telegraph.

JUDGE RAWSON TO BE ARRESTED

His Two Sons Threaten Judge Black--Election Row Aftermath.

SAN LEANDRO, April 5.—The bitter feeling over the town election contest which culminated in a cane fight between M. L. Rawson and John Black, former Justices of the Peace, continues, but the sober-minded portion of the community is beginning to realize that it is all a good deal of a tempest in a teapot, and deprecate the闹ism that has caused two old citizens to engage in an unseemly battle in the City Hall. Judge Black declares, however, that he will have Judge Rawson arrested. He says Rawson's two sons, one aged about 14 years and the other about 19, overtook him in the street Thursday evening and used threatening and abusive language to him. It is the general impression, however, that there will be no further acts of violence.

Judge Black says Judge Rawson struck him with a cane first, and denies that he advised Town Clerk Gray to have Rawson arrested for slapping him across the mouth.

"I told Mr. Gray he could have Rawson arrested," said Judge Black, "but did not advise him to do so. It has been stated that I am a candidate for Town Attorney, but that is not true. I would not have the office as a gift. I would not have struck Rawson had I not been forced to do so in self defense. I do not want the name of striking a cripple, and I never gave him any cause to attack me."

Rawson has only one leg.

The status of the election is still unsettled. Two proclamations have been issued, but the second one was issued without the first one being rescinded.

The whole row seems to be over who shall be elected to the short term trusteeship, which is taken to involve the Tava Attorney. If the first proclamation stands, J. F. E. Hupper has a clinch on being elected, and this means the defeat of Rawson and his friends.

TOPICS OF THE HOUR.

A notable series of articles regarding the American "Commercial Invasion of Europe" have just been brought to a conclusion in Scribner's Magazine for March. The conclusion deduced is a notable piece of work:

"In our national conception of the dignity of work we have an enormous advantage, but that also may be a danger. This far industrial rewards have been made pretty strictly on a merit basis. There have been few sons and nephews of rich families to take care of. The future generation can hardly be set free from the influence of the past. The present is not industrial, but the past will be many marriages as there ought to be. He says: "As woman has the power given her to support herself she will be less inclined to seek marriage relations similar for the purpose." He adds: "I am free to say this does not frighten me in the least."

The fact that women do not receive in the labor market equal wages with men is attributed by Mr. Wright to the fact that he believes it will be temporary, and that in the fullness of time the present is not industrial, but the past will be many marriages as there ought to be. He says: "As woman has the power given her to support herself she will be less inclined to seek marriage relations similar for the purpose." ## WHO WILL BE THE NEW STREET RAILWAY BOSS?

New Story on Asa R. Wells—When Oaklanders
Miss the Last Boat—Rivalry Between George
Knight and Samuel Shortridge—Mayor's Brother Makes a Mistake.

BY THE KNAVE.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—Asa R. Wells, who was the Author last year, try to close it by taking away its power to issue. But that never seems to think of it laboring "Uncle John" for making his property for which it has put him out is a bearing house now.

Mr. Wells has gone to live at the St. Dunstan. The St. Dunstan is a recently erected, very expensive and ultra-fashionable apartment building at the corner of State street and Van Ness avenue. It aims to combine the comforts of home with the conveniences of a hotel, and its charges approach those of similar houses in New York. Originally it was intended to be exclusively for bachelors, but there are not enough rich bachelors in San Francisco who want respectively expensive apartments to make such a place pay, and so the St. Dunstan was thrown open to families.

But the effect went forth that no Jews were to be permitted there. Now perhaps you will say a general fight breaking in upon the dark secret in the statement that Asa R. Wells is out of politics. In this supposedly enlightened age and this free and easy land of a liberty-loving land to draw a religious or racial distinction seems the height of folly. Naturally the Jews feel a resentment at the decision of the St. Dunstan owner. The feeling is particularly bitter among those who in their society throw open its wide omnia arms, but as the insult is aimed at the Jewish people generally, the Jewish people generally have taken it up.

The St. Dunstan is not half full. Its expensive rooms sound hollow to the unfrequent tread of guests. The place is elaborate, convenient, durable, but it does not fill up. Asa R. Wells is rich. He moved from the Phœnixton to the St. Dunstan because the latter was more expensive and more convenient. The Jews had their eyes on him when he moved. So I say again, he is out of politics, though he may not know it.

It is a wonder that in San Francisco after the last boat has gone on Saturday night—such as the eight of Oaklanders so situated in not an infrequent one—that bachelors are more than apt to want a brother the next day. But the bachelors close all their shops at high noon on Sunday, and all the influence of William F. Herring would not open the one of them again after that hour. The union rules are rigid and the bachelors fear to break them.

Of course an Oaklander who has missed his last train on Saturday night, is not likely to spend his time at a prayer meeting or to go about seeking ways and means for the upholding of religion. His feet will be likely to stray and his hours will more than probably be free. Sunday morning he will not feel at all like getting up before noon. He will find himself with a headache and a bristly growth of beard. Oh, for a barber! But the barber shops will be closed.

But do not be disengaged. In the King's bath his salvation. They will tell you that the bachelors' church is a representative, which should have all gone. Don't believe them. Incline give him the right of way, but assist with schemes and wink knowingly. Declare you have been there before. Win H. Jordan got the place of office under similar circumstances. As historical honor for himself, and left King to play second fiddle. That was what sent King out into the corridor to swear and smash his fine teeth, and that is why he would not come back to the bouquet and make his speech for the Governor when his name was called.

Then Shortridge went out to beat King at the Funson banquet. King was sent there as Governor. Shortridge is an aspirant for the seat of Perkins, he naturally felt that King's ambition was directed at him. "He says that the day of oratory in the United States Senate has passed," said the speaker at the Palace Hotel. "Well, Thank God, the day of such oratory as King's never was in the Senate."

One of the marvels of San Francisco life is the way John Mackay holds his popularity. Everybody has a good word for him. If he is in a project, that enterprise is given a popular boost. People refer to him as "Uncle John." They never cared a hoot for blood or O'Brien. They hated Jim Fair. But Mackay always is given the glad hand. When you ask why, nobody can tell. It is Mackay's luck.

Here he wants to build a cable to Hawaii and the Philippine Islands. Immediately there is a cry in San Francisco for Mackay's cable. There is a counter proposition for the government to build the cable. But even papers like the Examiner, which always have been demanding government ownership of telegraphs, switch over and favor Mackay's private ownership.

Mackay owns the southeast corner of Fourth and Market streets, and he has been importuned for many years to put up a decent building on his big holding. He declines to build. On the property is the notorious Midway Plaisance the latter—the most inexcusably vulgar show offered in any large city in the country. There have been crusades against the Midway time and again. Just now the

KING CHRISTIAN DID NOT WANT TO SELL THE ISLANDS

We Had to Stand With the People Though, So He Gave His Consent to Turn Them Over to Uncle Sam.

NEW YORK, April 5.—King Christian opposed the transfer of the Danish Islands to the United States; also Crown Prince Frederick and his son, Prince Christian, says a conciliatory dispatch to the Herald. The entire royal family shrank from the bare idea of the cession. There is only one person who really counts and has direct influence, and that is the King. This monarch has ever subordinated his private desires and sentiments to the policy of the interests of his country. In the present case he has acted as he has always done. His feelings are repugnant to the sale, but patriotism, the calls of a political-economic convenience and the overwhelming vote of the Folketing have caused the King to side with the people. In spite of his personal sentiments and those of his entire family he is for the sale and has given his approval.

Denmark's Minister of Foreign Affairs considers that the upper house scarcely will dare to wipe out the enormous majority of the lower house, but will try to save its dignity by proposing a resolution of the inhabitants of the islands.

Dr. Poulsen and his colleagues in the Government might be willing to accept.

MANY NEW BOOKS BY VERY POPULAR AUTHORS.

Poet Edwin Markham at Home and How He Came to Write His Famous Piece, "The Man With the Hoe."

In "Authors of Our Day in Their Homes," Francis Whiting Hulsey gives us twenty-two sketches of foremost writers, home and foreign, at this time, their views on important subjects, as also an inside view to their home-life.

The authors considered are Mark Twain, Winston Churchill, Edward Carpenter, S. Weir Mitchell, Edward Markham, Lawrence Hutton, Goldwin Smith, John Bigelow, Richard Watson Gilder, Charles Purdy Warner, John Denison Chapman, Joel Chandler Harris, Theodore Roosevelt, Robert Grant, Edward Everett Hale, Will Carleton, Marion Crawford, Gilbert Parker, Robert Barn, James Allen, Booth Tarkington and Carl Schurz.

The sketches are short, lucid and cleverly written. There are pen-portraits of each subject and photographic views of the studios or dens of nearly all of these celebrities. It is but natural that we should feel an interest in the writers who entertain and charm us. That interest, once aroused, impels us to inquiry regarding the personality of the man and the manner in which he spends his time catering to our mental enjoyment. This, of course, is something which could not be attained by every admirer, but it has been successfully accomplished by Mr. Hulsey, and his work will, for that reason, be appreciated by the admirers of the men whose names are mentioned above.

Casual interest attaches to the book because of the sketch of Edwin Markham, the poet, who for so many years was a resident of Oakland. In speaking of the home-place of "The Man With the Hoe," Mr. Hulsey says:

"Westleigh, Staten Island, the home of the author of "The Man With the Hoe," is a delightful place when one reaches, despite the fact that the settlement perpetuates the principles, if not the nomenclature of "Prohibition Park," its baptismal name. It is popularly supposed to be an hour's travel from the foot of Broadway, but it all depends whether you reach the ferry just in time to see the boat swing gracefully out in the stream, and whether the trolley car at the instant of the journey is blocked by one of the numerous beer wagons that infest the neighborhood.

"When you have met Mr. Markham, it is easy to forgive him for having kept you waiting two hours.

"Mr. Markham lives in a cosy little house on the left-hand side of the way as you come from the trolley, just on the limits of civilization; beyond are the swamps, the woods and the mosquitoes. On the left of the entrance is the reception-room and beyond this, toward the rear, the pleasant dining-room with its outlook upon the greenest of lawns and a distant clump of forest patriarchs.

"We always place guests at table so that they face that window," said Mrs. Markham, as she forced me willingly to submit to a second helping of her culinary production of her inventive genius.

"Above, in the second story, is the poet's study lined with books which seem to have settled upon the dwelling like the locusts of Biblical fame; it must surely be a difficult place in which to write—voices of prose-writers and poets of today and yesterday, rise in chorus from the shelves in remembrance of the sweets awaiting the sipping of "the wine of life." The visitor may, unfortunately, be compelled to incorporate in his host's treasure, a beautiful three-volume edition of Keats, owing to his writing-table and admiration of the English poet was an immediate passport to Mr. Markham's confidence. Framed on one of the walls hangs the original newspaper production of "The Man With the Hoe," which rendered him famous, and at the far end of the room is a counter-fit presentment of sturdy Walt Whitman, with his disheveled looks and burning eyes.

"Surprises of an ANGRY HOTEL. A surprise in the way of a name of a summer romance is "The Surprises of an Empty Hotel," the latest story which has come from the prolific pen of Archibald Claverley Gunter. There is nothing in the name save a suggestion of spook stories, but Mr. Gunter's fertility of invention has prevented him from indulging in imaginings regarding ghosts and goblins. On the contrary, the author has introduced into his story a whole world of the flesh and full of vitality. They are essentially human and are subject to the laws of heredity, which impel them to think and act like other people, though under such unique circumstances as to give the impression that they are unique in themselves. Indeed, some of them are unique and the uniqueness is delineated in the masterly style which is the valued possession of the author.

"The hotel in question is at Narragansett Pier. Up to the month of July, when the season is half over, it has not had guest. The first guest is Francis Graham Marchmont. His arrival takes a load off the proprietor's heart and seems to augur a change in the

What the Pianola
Means to You.

With the Pianola you can play every style and class of music ever composed—Liszt Rhapsodies, Chopin's Nocturnes, the grand operas of Wagner and Verdi, light operas of Sullivan and De Koven, and all the latest rag-time favorites. In fact, with the aid of the Pianola, you can play upon your own piano any selection you wish—you can have dance music or song accompaniments, and the question of "finding some one to play" need never arise. Did you ever stop to consider how much pleasure there is stored up in your piano, then count the number of times in a month it is used, aside from the tedious practice of a child? It is worth thinking about. The Pianola supplies the deficiency. It even makes no difference if you do not know one note from another.

ATHLETICS AT THE UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA

Anthony Cadogan, the Great Sprinter, Able to Be on Track.

BERKELEY, April 5.—Last night Anthony Cadogan, the fast sprinter whom the honor of upholding the University colors in the sprints when the team goes East, appeared on the track for the first time in ten days.

Just prior to the interclass championship field-day Cadogan split a tendon in his leg, and, ailing under the advice of Trainer Christie, did not enter the field-day nor do any training until the tendon had thoroughly healed.

Cadogan does not feel any bad effects from the sprain and is doing his usual fast work.

Cadogan was in championship form before the interclass field-day and he is expected to equal if not better his performance of 10 flat of last year.

Play, the hammer thrower, has been experimenting with four turns in the sixteen-pound event. While he has not become used to the change, it is the opinion of those who have watched him perform that he has reached his maximum speed in three turns.

The fourth turn is harder to control than the others and it is much harder to "get it" as the expression goes in athletics.

He is performing finely in both the shot and the hammer, and there is no reason why he should not establish a coast record in one and a world record in another.

Eighteen of the most promising athletes accompanied the baseball team on today's 1 o'clock train to Palo Alto and will test the qualities of the Stanford track.

TENNIS GAMES AT THE UNIVERSITY

BERKELEY, April 5.—Seven of the fifteen matches in the tennis tournament have already been played. Hunt thus far in the tournament has not been defeated and it is conceded by everyone that he will win this year's championship.

Brady and Hendricks will probably drop out of the tournament owing to the demands baseball makes upon their time.

Hunt has beaten McGavin by a score of 6-2, 6-3, 6-4. He also beat Hendricks 6-2, 9-7, 6-3. Brown lost to Hunt by a score of 6-3, 6-3, 6-2.

Baker won from Brady 5-7, 6-3, 6-1, 6-2. He also won from MacGavin 6-4, 6-0, 6-2.

Hunt, besides the games above mentioned, has beaten Brady and Brown has beaten MacGavin in the singles.

MRS. FREDERICK FUNSTON

(From her latest phot graph by Belle Oudry.)

General and Mrs. Funston Will Start For Their Home in Denver Tomorrow.

Mrs. Frederick Funston, the beautiful and accomplished wife of General Funston, will leave with her husband Sunday night for Denver. Baby Funston, of course, will accompany them. General Funston has been appointed to the command of the Department of Colorado and while he is fulfilling those duties he and his family will live in Denver.

Mrs. Funston is accomplished as well as beautiful and will no doubt be popular in Denver society. She comes from a family of musicians and she has for years been a leader in East Oakland society. She is also a prominent member of the Ebell Society. Many farewell entertainments were planned in her honor, but, on account of delicate health, she has been compelled to decline them all.

Miss Harriet L. Davis is a Popular Member of the Congregational Choir.

The next cotillion of the Thursday Night Club will probably be lead by Miss Harriet L. Davis, than whom there is no more beautiful young woman in Oakland. Miss Davis is possessed of a stately beauty seldom seen nowadays, and she has many accomplishments. She has a rich soprano voice, which is often heard in charitable entertainments and in the choir of the First Congregational Church. In fact, her voice is of such rich quality, range and volume that her friends have frequently urged her to enter the ranks of the professionals. Miss Davis, however, is pleased to remain an amateur.

Besides being leader of the Thursday Night Club Miss Davis is a prominent member of the '97 Dancing Club and of a number of whist clubs. With the younger set she is an unequalled favorite.

Miss Davis lives with her parents at 634 Fourteenth street, where she frequently entertains her friends.

Mrs. M. F. Chloupek and Mrs. Lilly Samuels Will Represent the Rathbone Sisters.

There will be no one at the Supreme Temple of the Rathbone Sisters, which meets in San Francisco in August, more prominent than Mrs. Lilly Samuels, the grand chief and Mrs. M. F. Chloupek, the deputy grand chief at large, both of whom live in Oakland.

The Rathbone Sisters is an auxiliary of the Knights of Pythias and much is expected to be accomplished at the big convention in August. Mrs. Samuels and Mrs. Chloupek are working hard organizing new temples and they have already met with considerable success.

Last Tuesday evening they effected the organization of a temple in San Francisco.

Both Mrs. Samuels and Mrs. Chloupek are popular in social as well as fraternal society on both sides of the bay, and they are sure to be favorites at the session of the Supreme Temple, as they have been among the lodge-members of the State.

HAYWARD'S TOWN OFFICIALS ARE IN A VERY BAD LIGHT.

Committee Will Make a Searching Investigation and Matter Will Go Before Grand Jury —Held Out Town Money For Months.

HAYWARDS, April 5.—Town Clerk John Obermueller refuses to tell what he did with the $50 which he paid to the Town Treasurer on the 26th of last month, between the time he collected it and the time it was paid over to the town. He acknowledged that part of the money was collected last year and the balance between the first of the year and the 10th of March. Where the money was held before it was handed over he refuses to state.

Yesterday Mr. Obermueller was interviewed by a TRIBUNE reporter and when first questioned in regard to the matter he said, "I do not wish to make a statement for publication and will say nothing until charges, if there be any, are filed against me."

Upon further questioning, however, Mr. Obermueller was prevailed upon to talk. When asked how far back the $50 had been accumulating he said: "I do not know just what accounts were included in the money I handed over, nor how far back they extend. I do know, however, that some of the money I collected last year and the balance since January 1, just how much of the amount has been added since the first of the year I am not prepared to say, as I would have to examine my books to get the exact figures."

It had been intimated that Clerk Obermueller had appropriated the town's money when it was in his possession for personal uses. This he denies.

"I did not use the money for any personal ends," he said.

"What did you do with the money between the time you collected it and the time it was paid to the Treasurer?"

When the last question was put Mr. Obermueller replied in an evasive manner.

"It has always been the custom of this office to hold all money collected until the amount was large enough to go to the trouble of dividing it into the four different funds. I did not know that by holding the money over that it was doing wrong."

When asked if he was not aware that the law provided that all money collected by city or town officials should be paid to the Treasurer at the end of each month, he said:

"No, I was not aware that that was the law. I had never been informed of the fact, and furthermore I think this

SUCCESS OF AN OAKLAND GIRL

ENFORCEMENT OF THE LAW.

Miss Caroline Haskins Does Good Work in Honolulu.

The Honolulu Advertiser has the following to say about Miss Caroline Haskins, an Oakland girl, whose mother resides at 545 Twenty-fourth street:

"The boy and the Lobster," a photographic study by Miss Caroline Haskins of Honolulu, has been pronounced the finest specimen of art photography in the Hawaiian Islands. W. R. Vickery, who probably ranks third in the United States of art connoisseurs, saw the photograph last week in Miss Haskins' studio, and was at once struck with the artistic nature of the study and especially delighted with the originality displayed in the posing. The boy is a young Hawaiian well known on the water front, being one of the small boys which dives for shells and fishes through into the harbors from the decks of incoming passenger vessels. He is a pleasant-faced little chap and has a good figure. Miss Haskins says the posing of a boy with a lobster in his hands was done with the object of having his attention so distracted by the wriggling of the crustacean that he would forget himself for the moment and thus render him unconscious of the presence of the camera. The pose succeeded admirably, as the picture shows.

"I don't know whether the Honolulu public fully appreciate Miss Haskins," said Mr. Vickery to an Advertiser reporter. "She is a true artist and some of her studies are valuable from an art standpoint. She certainly has a bright future."

Miss Haskins will be home on a visit for a few days.

MANY SOCIAL SUCCESSES AT SAN LEANDRO.

Mr. and Mrs. Fraters Honored By Their Friends.

SAN LEANDRO, April 5.—Among the pleasant social affairs given recently in San Leandro was a surprise party given to Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Fraters by their son, William, and son-in-law, Tony Cardoza. The occasion was the celebration of the fortieth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Fraters and the sixtieth birthday of Mrs. Fraters.

Those present at the party were: Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Fraters, Mr. and Mrs. G. Silver, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Fraters, Mr. and Mrs. M. Fraters, Mr. and Mrs. D. Futado, Misses Celia Mathews, Helen Rogers, Dena Futado, Fannie Fraters, Mary Cardoza, Lena Mayo, Violet Fraters, Messrs. Mike Coleman, Joseph Mathews, Wm. Souza, J. H. Priestly, Fred Priestly, James Jackson, Phillip Sapino, Frank Euchner, Willie Fraters, Eddie Fraters, Mrs. Jessie Rodgers.

The party was well planned, and Mr. and Mrs. Fraters were taken completely by surprise. The evening was spent playing games and with musical selections by several of the guests. Refreshments were served.

MORTGAGE DESTROYED.

The members of the Ladies Aid Society of the First Presbyterian Church spent a pleasant afternoon at the residence of Mrs. E. P. & A. L. POMPADOUR FLOWERED TAFFETAS COAT.

Blossoming of the Sunshade.

PRETTY FLORAL EFFECTS AND WITH LACE AND CHIFFON.

What could be more charming or daintier than a lady's pompadour coat? Native girls of good families as well as society ladies everywhere are prone to the exquisite little contrivances fashioned to go with equally lovely robes. Flowers are in the majority, while ruffles and ruchings are growing in evidence and used in all manner of daintiness.

Opposite to the flowers are the feathers which garnish the greater part of these charming feminine articles, though delicate sticks and even combs are frequently seen.

Among the flowered styles pompadour designs lead, while Dresden effects follow closely.

A charming little sunshade, and one which will be an attractive woman in the hands of any prettician of femininity, is a mass of tiny dainties. From terrace to ribbon-twisted handle there appears to be no row of these intricate trinkets, and, though the insertion of the ruffled pompadour design is not in the least surprising to find this method of ornamentation fitting one of the prettiest in parasol designs. Even and buttercup lace are ruffled and are sown on lace medallions or even lace linings.

On the outside of the very are another row in the parasol line, and to carry with the sun and much worn linen suits they are similarly appropriate.

Sometimes these are made in tiny dots of open patterned lace and thin bands of richly colored embroideries.

One of plain even lace has for a border a row of tiny dots which are joined in a duplicate, quite as fascinating, is combined with blue. Hand painting enters largely into the newest trimmings for parasols as well as for gowns and here again one sees the rage for pompadour effects carried out with extreme daintiness. An idea with raised pompadour lace has made this particularly the fashion of the year.

Pompadour designs are sometimes seen, though these are more prettily fashioned as the fresh and dainty pompadour effects, glittering sequins, for some reason, seem to belong more to evening wear, so they cannot help appearing just a little out of their element among all the airy, sumptuous effects which suggest in every line and bit of trimming those afternoon summer pastimes of society garden parties and fêtes.

The newest parasols come with an extremely thin lace border, a wide lace border, a lace band with lace ends, the same material. A pretty white gown with pink trimming would be accompanied by a pink-trimmed pompadour hat and a pompadour ribbon-trimmed having a lining of the palest and most exquisite shade of pink. This, of course, to be carried by the woman who finds pink becoming. The blues are in the latest, for me not shade, and one which made a charming tailor parasol rather in the sense of lacking all the softness and daintiness of the more elaborate affairs, was a pale blue taffeta, with a two-inch border of white silk, which had its upper edge cut irregularly to fit in with a very handsome design worked in white.

At the end of a lace band tied with a broad band of the blue taffeta made a smart finish and one thoroughly in keeping with the simple cover.

Lace is used extensively, but instead of the all-over patterns we now see entire embroidery, dots and small appliqués. White and dark lace are often seen together with tucked bands of white mousseline make an exquisite parasol to carry with a white frock. Occasionally these are lined with pale rose, yellow or blue, while being into delicate relief the open pattern of the lace. Now, however, there is such a demand for trimming out of color that Valentine lace, the lace used for baby hats, is not in the least surprising to find this method of ornamentation fitting one of the prettiest in parasol designs. Even and buttercup lace are ruffled and are sown on lace medallions or even lace linings.

On the outside of the very are another row in the parasol line, and to carry with the sun and much worn linen suits they are similarly appropriate.

An idea with raised pompadour lace has made this particularly the fashion of the year.

The effect is extremely pretty as the guests assemble around the table, and a woman has a unique opportunity for making the most of her pretty face and luxuriant hair. The prettiness of it all appeals strongly to the feminine mind, and a little study on the part of the designer of lace in making Mimi's pompadour pompadour lace.

Those who find puffs, powder and moonbeams becoming will naturally turn to the line of Mme. Pompadour or Marie Antoinette, while others may select the pearl-entwined braids of Johanna of Austria as model. There are no limitations set by the hostess, and so long as the affair arrangement is historically correct the style may date back to Gracian Blets and Psyche knots.

AT THE COIFFURE DINNER.

After the Lenten season is over and the society is ready to pack up for the summer outing, there is usually a gay round of charming little dinners, and hostesses are on the lookout for some new and attractive feature. Hence the rage for the coiffure dinner, which is novel, pretty and not too much trouble.

For wear at the dinners hostesses are showing some of the loveliest silk and light cloth coats, and nothing could be more satisfactory than one of these to take the place of the fur-trimmed article.

There is that beautiful light silk which is so fashionable just now. The body of the garment is arranged in graduated tucks, white at each side of the front and down the back extends an increased panel of beautiful even Chantilly guipure. The material is cut out in a large oval, the cutting of pale pink taffeta. The sleeves, which are extremely wide at the hand, are tucked and encrusted after the manner of the coat.

There is a wide Capuchin hood of Chantilly taffeta, which has a border of puffed and shirred mousseline de soie encircling the shoulders, the collar-trimmed collar stands well up about the throat and the coat fastens in front at each side with rosettes which have long depending scarfs of finely plisse mousseline. These scarfs are edged all about with ruchettes of the same delicate fabric, and one gets a glimpse of mousseline plattings and ruches falling below the hem of the coat.

Suede cloth, on account of its smooth, delicate finish and exquisite coloring, is especially liked for evening coats, and these same excellent qualities make it suitable for wear at this season of the year.

However, it will have much to do to hold its own against the increasing popularity of taffetas, plain and printed in colors. These taffeta coats range in length from the short eton to the long evening garment, and differ in style of ornamentation by as many degrees, though it is a rare exception to find one without a bit of lace tucked away somewhere about it.

The Armand model represents one of the longer coats intended for evening wear, and is made of pompadour flowered black taffeta. The coat fits the figure without much fullness and falls to the bottom of the gown without breaks or flares. Three graduated bands of black velvet ribbon border the edges of the coat, and above this trimming is a geometrical pattern carried out with a still narrower width of velvet.

Deep cuffs of application lace turn back from the sleeves, and these fancy finishings are trimmed with bands of narrow velvet ribbon, while the upper edge forms deep points. The same device is utilized in making the black chantilly lace round jacket.

Such trimmings of white mousseline de soie, furnishes a graceful finish for the sleeves.

Deep collar of ivory lace reaches to the shoulders and extends down the front in a point. At the throat is fastened a full rosette of narrow velvet ribbons with long loops and ends. Long stripes of black chantilly are gathered under this and confined at the waist by the jeweled ornament, and are then permitted to hang quite to the knees. These lace stoles give an effect of added stature to offset the shortening lines of a round jacket cut straight across the bottom.

Still more sumptuous looking, wraps are those of thin silk or wool canvas cloth made up over taffeta linings. For example, one of pale ceru, or, rather, champagne lace should be called, and for a foundation a handsome pompadour taffeta, and through the thin meshes of the outer fabric should be the delicate plums and greens of the flowered silk. This coat was three-quarter length and was cut in a perfectly plain, loose fashion. All around the edge there was a band of Persian embroidery done on canvas in pale pinks, greens, dull reds and too. The inner side of the band was cut in tiny points, which looked very hand-some against the champagne cloth.

The reverses turned back in a line from throat to hem, and were of the flowered taffeta edged with Pekin silk. The cuffs, too, were trimmed in the same fashion, with the additional beauty of inclusions of heavy lace lace.

Pleasing Pompadour Patterns take the lead in Paris Fashions

SHOWN in HATS, RIBBONS and SUPERB FLORAL TAFFETAS

BY ELAINE DEX.

Paris, Saturday.

Pompadour seems to be the rule of the day. We have pompadour flowered taffetas, pompadour ribbons, hats garlanded with delicate pink pompadour roses, and daily pompadour roses, combined with stars and wreaths of the same tiny flowers.

The imperious beauty at the court of Louis XV, is again holding sway over the fashions of the times. Headwear particularly is following after modes established by this favorite, and hats, as well as hair ornaments, ing a very handsome broad collar, which is further enhanced by cheonille embroidery. There is a Robespierre collar of embroidered lace, from which falls scarfs ends of application lace. This soft and graceful finish at the neck gives the garment a sumptuous air and at the same time renders it extremely light to move in. The coat is lined with a soft silk of a delicate pink to match the shade of the pompadour roses.

There is a charming length in these coats, quite new in this respect and also in cut, for it comes just midway between the hip and knee and falls loosely from the shoulder. One of the most popular is a pompadour taffeta. Pompadour model after this latest fad seemed to find it difficult to grow accustomed to its dressing jacket length. It was lovely, nevertheless, and the length was very becoming to her figure. The coat was plain, except for bands of black velvet around the bottom and the neck, and a band of pink lace with narrow black velvet embroidery, and the cuffs and revers were striped with inch-wide black velvet ribbons, which fell over the edge in double loops.

NOVELTY IN BELTED MODEL.

A decided novelty is the belted model from the Magasin du Louvre, here depicted. The upper part of the coat is of black chintz lace, later, pink pompadour lace, and vertically across the waist is a band of narrow black velvet.

These light colored coats are handsome for carriage wear, yet even with one of this variety it is almost necessary to sup plume's soft with another in black taffeta. These are more becoming, however, when belted in the waist without appearing too dressy. They are very little affairs, too, and the addition of a smart cuff or lace band adds a little variety that is always charming.

Bands of black velvet are undoubtedly the accepted mode of ornamentation, and the preference seems to be for the straight pieces instead of the new variety woven in wavy lines.

These coats were gathered out in a sort of dressing jacket style and trimmed with radiating bands of velvet ribbon. Of course there were rows of handsome embroidery in conjunction with the inevitable lace scarf. Sometimes these scarfs of fine white or black chintz are draped in full fashion across the shoulders of taffeta coats and the idea brings up the question of whether or not the lace scarf will reach the same predicted for it earlier in the season.

Turner had it among modesties and numbers that the dainty accessory used so widely for evening wear would enjoy the same popularity for the street as seen in the weather permitted thinner wraps. So far some really elegant ones have been seen, but on account of the scorching heat, was a Pompadour model, and the foundation, which glistened through the thin lace woven silk, was of champagne and white taffeta. The long sleeve dropped in a soft but midway between elbow and wrist and was confined by a deep cuff of pale leaf-green, gathered hemmed with metallics of pink lace. The belt was of a soft silk used effectively upon the collar, and at the throat were fastened two meringue crepe scarfs, fringed edged and draped in shawl fashion from two soft chintz at the throat.

lace there is a probability that lace-shouldered shoulders will not figure as prominently as had been hoped.

As to hats, a charming variety of shapes is offered, for in this line Dame Fashion shows many vagaries. All are pretty, however, and so far the tendency noted is in the direction of tricorne and plateau, the latter for afternoon wear.

One model here shown, that from Leatheric, follows closely the lines of the boat-shaped hats so popular during last season, pendant trimming included.

Good feathers, and only good ones, are always modest, and there are some women who find their soft beauty more becoming than bright-lined leaves or flowers.

This Carlton hat is a striking combination of black and white. Coarse straw braids in both these colors are made into a gently rolling round, flat hat, and against the brim, just over the left side, are placed two small cockades, fashioned one from the white braid, the other from the black.

From under the white straw ornament there drops a long, glossy black plume, while a white one starts from the other cockade and falls gracefully against the hair.

The revers turned back in a line from throat to hem, and were of the flowered taffeta edged with Pekin silk. The cuffs, too, were trimmed in the same fashion, with the additional beauty of inclusions of heavy lace lace.
